Fees, Newspaper Draw Fire at Morehouse

Charlie Neal At Odds Again

By CHARLES BRADY

MOREHOUSE— Mayor Marlin "Mo" Swinger last night advised merchants and citizens, who jammed into the town board meeting room, to air their complaints about the new business license ordinance. He said, "the board will take the ordinance under consideration and may revise it".

The ordinance, establishing license fees for 124 businesses, was passed April 21 by the board and has created a furor among merchants, who charge that the fees are too high.

Former Morehouse Mayor Charlie Neal did most of the talking saying that "some of the rates, such as for pool tables, were left the same and others were raised six to seven times as much, including the bank fee".

He has long been at odds with the council.

Neal also charged that there are conflicting provisions in the ordinance, that it was not written properly, and that there are too many licenses included which would make the ordinance impossible to enforce.

Neal commented:

"My remedy would be to raise all business licenses a small amount and to cut out some of the business fees the city doesn't have."

He explained there were 30 businesses included in the ordinance which Morehouse does not have.

Gene Hendon, a Morehouse banker, said "the merchants tax should be changed but not as much as they are." He said that $50 a year to operate a bank is fair but $75 is too much.

The bank license fee formerly was $12.50.

Hendon added:

"Everyone here wants to see the city profit but we don't want to have to all pay through the nose all at once."

Alderman John Eaker charged that Neal had proposed a business license when he was mayor and that some of the fees were higher than the present ordinance.

"I never prosposed any ordinance," Neal claimed, but later changed his story when Eaker produced some handwritten notes of Neal's on the ordinance.

Merchant license fees weren't alone in taking verbal abuse, at the meeting. A news story about the fees came under fire.

Mayor Swinger said:

"Speaking as a citizen and not in the capacity of mayor, I will say the publicity this town has received concerning this ordinance is not good for the town and makes us look foolish."

He said it "doesn't help the city at all to have an article given to the Sikeston Daily Standard by Charlie Neal appear in the paper."

Neal remarked:

"There sits the man who got the story—referring to the area editor Charles Brady—it wasn't me".

"Mr. Neal, you were the one who called the Sikeston Standard about getting a story on this ordinance," Brady said. Neal challenged Brady to deny Neal's statement and when Brady did, Neal replied three times "I'll be waiting for you outside, fella".

Mayor Swinger cautioned each time "that's enough, Charlie".

Brady told the board:

"Charlie Neal called the Standard about the ordinance and I was sent to Morehouse by my boss to get a story on it. I was here that afternoon (April 22) talking to Jack Taylor, city collector, and looking at the ordinance, when Neal came in. I then asked Neal some questions."

When Neal called the newspaper requesting the newspaper to investigate the ordinance, he said he had been requested by merchants and others to "get some hell raised" about the new ordinance. He gave this as his reason for calling the newspaper.

In other business, the board listened to complaints about dogs running in packs inside the city limits.

Mayor Swinger said:

"We have an ordinance regulating dogs in the city but it's never been enforced. We tried but it's too damn expensive."

Sonny Moser asked to board to reconsider the ordinance which prevents keeping horses in the city limits.

Alderman John Eaker said "Sonny's the only one I know in town that keeps his horses clean but a whole bunch of others don't".

The board voted not to change the ordinance.

The board elected Taylor as city clerk replacing Elizabeth Rogers. The city clerk is elected each May.

This action drew fire from Mrs. Rogers who said "they (the town board) never did appoint a city clerk in May before".

She commented:

"It's a well known fact. The board claims they have an ordinance on the appointment of a city clerk but they don't. I knew my days were numbered when they named (Mayor) Swinger in office. I really didn't expect to last this long. Quitman Dill (an alderman) was just as surprised as I was when they brought this up. That's why he didn't vote."

Aldermen John Eaker and Woodrow Bolin voted in favor of Taylor for city clerk. Alderman Estle Rogers, husband of Elizabeth Rogers, voted against Taylor's appointment. Quitman Dill abstained.

She said:

"We have good people in Morehouse but they don't have anyone good to represent them. Jack Taylor really runs the city."

Two woman complained to the board about junk piling up in their yards.

The financial statement, disbursement report, and collector's report were approved.

Senate Okays Higher Tax

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — A bill to extend present income tax rates on a permanent basis passed the Missouri Senate easily Monday on a 26-6 vote.

The bill now goes back to the House for action on a Senate change and Speaker James E. Godfrey, D-St. Louis, said action would be expedited—perhaps today or Wednesday.

Rep. Harold Volkmer, D-Hannibal, was satisfied with the Senate change cutting out a provision for a dividend exclusion and eliminating the present dividend credit. He said that put the bill back in its original form as he wanted it.

Eliminating the dividend provision would add a maximum of $5 million a year to state revenues, Sen. Maurice Schechter, D-Creve Coeur, said.

He cited Revenue Department estimates that the bill would raise $92 million additional in collections next year.

The present rates are 1½ to 6 per cent on individual income taxes and a top of 5 per cent on corporations. They expire at the end of 1971 unless extended.

The Senate beat down two efforts by Sen. William B. Waters, D-Liberty, to limit the extension through 1972 or 1973. He argued the legislature does not yet know what Congress intends to do about revenue sharing with states or taking over state welfare costs which run about $120 million a year.

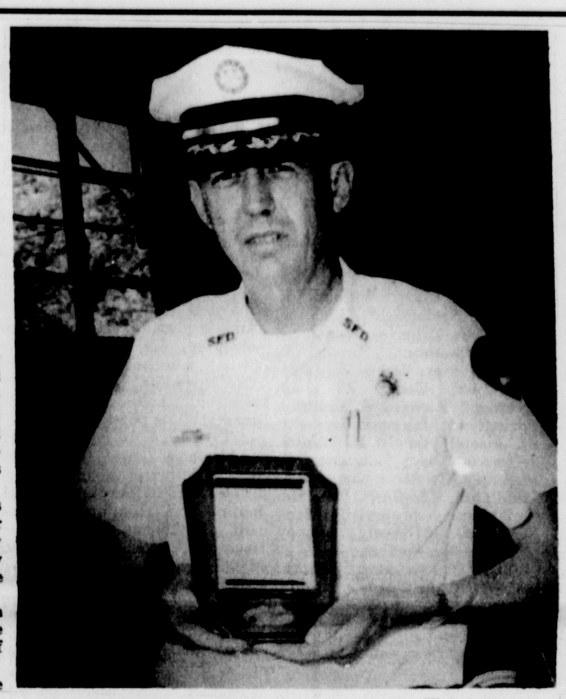

The one-year extension was voted down 10-22 and the twoyear plan 14-19.

Waters said extending present rates through 1973 would remove the tax issue from the 1972 campaign and would give a new governor and a new legislature a chance to re-examine state revenue needs in 1973.

Opponents said it was ridiculous to keep fighting over the state's fiscal crisis every year. They argued successfully that the present rates should be made permanent.

The legislature has been embroiled in the long income tax struggle since the start of the 1969 session.

When rates finally were raised to their present level, along with provisions to simplify returns and save money for lower income people, Sen. Earl R. Blackwell started a referendum campaign to take the question to the voters.

AN AWARD to the Sikeston fire department was accepted by Chief Dolph Webb for saving the life of Grover Kelley in a house fire May 11,1970. The presentation was made by the Missouri Firefighters Association.

Protest Falls Apart

WASHINGTON (AP) — Antiwar protester's hopes of rekindling guerrilla-style efforts to halt the nation's government disintegrated today and the Pentagon began withdrawing 4,000 federal troops from the streets and bridges of the capital.

Wholesale arrests of more than 7,000 persons Monday appeared to have broken the back of the planned three days of disruptions.

As the Marines, paratroopers and other federal troops began withdrawing from the capital, police reported another 200 arrests had been made today as demoralized bands of young people wandered the streets, apparently leaderless and without design.

At a White House breakfast with Republican congressional leaders, President Nixon praised police, District of Columbia officials and the attorney general "for the way they handled demonstrators and the restraint exhibited," said Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania.

The federal troops, who had moved into the city at the height of Monday's disorders, were pulled back to staging positions in the suburbs. But there was no move to return to their bases the 10,000 troops who had been mobilized during the weekend.

The disengagement of troops still left thousands of police to watch warily over the city.

Rush-hour traffic—lighter than usual—moved smoothly.

Protest organizers, who had promised to send 10,000 persons into the streets today, talked of a midday march on the Justice Department.

Charges of disorderly conduct, obstructing traffic, loitering or unlawful assembly were lodged against most of those arrested today—although several older, well-dressed, wellgroomed pedestrians were arrested for jaywalking and hauled off in police paddywagons.

Police vehicles did more to cause brief traffic jams than did the demonstrators.

Said one long-haired youth: "Everthing has broken down today ... some people are out of it."

Said another: "I'm too tired."

As the rush hour began, traffic flowed smoothly across the four Potomac River bridges which were the target of Monday's disruption. Street cleaning machines crisscrossed the bridges an hour before dawn to clear away a scattering of nails and tacks.

The demonstrators conceded police and military forces had prevailed a day earlier, when the largest groups tried to block the four major bridges into Virginia without lasting success. Marine and Army troops resumed their patrols of the bridges early this morning. The soldiers were spread no more than 20 feet apart on each span.

The disruptions Monday ranged from peaceful sitdowns at busy intersections to sheer vandalism. Hundreds of trash bins, bricks, bottles, and other debris were thrown into the streets. Many cars were abandoned at intersections, some set afire. Fuel lines were snipped on buses, and several motorists, including Sen. Paul Fannin, R-Ariz., had their tires slashed.

There were several incidents of protesters exchanging blows with police, although reports of serious injuries were scant. About 100 persons were treated at area hospitals.

Among those arrested Monday was Rennie Davis, one of the "Chiago Seven" and a coordinator of the demonstrations. He was charged with conspiring to violate civil rights. Earlier, Davis admitted that "in no way did we outmaneuver the police," but he declared the activities had fostered "the development of a people's organization."

Bond for Davis was set at $25,000, and he was still imprisoned early today.

Police originally insisted that none of those arrested be freed without appearing before one of eight municipal judges for arraignment, a process that could have taken days.

But late Monday, Chief Jerry Wilson ordered that the protesters charged with lesser offenses be released on $10 collateral, and several hujdred had returned to the streets by this morning.

As the jails filled Monday, some 2,000 arrestees were taken to outdoor compounds before police arranged to rent the Washington Coliseum, an indoor facility.

Many of the arrests had been made without officers bothering with the usual practice of filling out field reports and taking pictures, and considerable confusion was evident at the Coliseum later as police clerks began the processing.

One judge, at the behest of defense attorneys for the Coliseum prisoners, ordered Wilson to appear tonight and show cause why they should not be released.

Although most commuter traffic was delayed by no more than 30 or 45 minutes Monday, many federal employes foiled the demonstrators entirely by showing up hours early for work.

The White House, largely ignored Monday by the demonstrators, was serene as Mrs. Richard Nixon was having a luncheon for congressional wives. The President returned in the evening from San Clemente, Calif., offering no comment on the protests.

At the Capitol, several senators said the actions of the militants were counterproductive to their goal of ending U.S. involvement in South Vietnam.

Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., a Vietnam dove, said he supports the use of whatever force is necessary to keep the streets open, and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., declared "the cause of peace is being damaged by violence in the name of ending the war."

Orton Barred

The formal order made permanent a writ of prohibition directing County Clerk John M. Alford not to put Orton's name on the ballot at a special election May 11 and not to count any votes for him.

Orton's wife already has filed for the right to fill out the rest of Orton's term, along with several deputies and former deputies. The acting sheriff is Thad Shelly.

The court said an opinion on today's ruling would follow later.

Orton was ousted on charges brought by Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth that he had failed to enforce liquor and gambling laws. Orton's attorney said he would appeal that ruling to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Homeowners Ask Sewer Extension

By H. H. TOWNSEND JR.

NEW MADRID— The city council last night hear requests of citizens for sewer extension and received reports on power plant construction and a bond issue.

Approved were construction bills totalling $583,239.19 for power plant construction in St. Jude Industrial Park.

Babcock and Wilcox and Comstock-Roper Electric Company were named prime contractors for piping and electrical work at the power plant site. Both firms have been contractors on the job.

James Yeley was appointed assistant purchasing agent for the city replacing John Aiello to buy materials for construction at the power plant.

Representing citizens from Angora Heights, subdivision requesting sewer extension was Harry Bock. He was told that a bonding firm had been contacted concerning a bond issue for the extension but no commitment had been received for the bonds.

The citizens group will appear at the next council meeting.

Baseball Commissioner Hot Phillips discussed federal assistance to buy recreational equipment for the city parks and playgrounds through the Southeast Missouri Law Enforcement Council in Malden, which has access for such funds for combating juvenile delinquency.

Phillips was authorized to work with City Administrator Russell Ellis to draw up a plan to be submitted to the council.

The council authorized the erection of two additional poles and lights on the Little League ball diamond as requested by Phillips.

A request by Arthur Shy to waive interest on a street paving bill on Mitchell Street was denied.

Mayor Robert Riley was authorized by the council to sign an agreement with the St. Louis Southwestern Railway Company for construction of additional track into the industrial park.

City Attorney Hal E. Hunter told the council that a letter had been received from the Internal Revenue Service exempting interest on the $60,000,000 bond issue voted by the city March 2 for completion of the power plant.

He commented that "this clears the way for the sale of the bonds".

Three Take Council Posts At Dexter

By BRENDA MacDONALD

DEXTER— Eldon Cooper, James Williams, and Lehman Godwin were sworn in as city councilmen by City Clerk George McCracken last night.

An ordinance was passed by the council to blacktop city streets which need repair.

D. I. Webb, a vending machine operator, asked the council to consider removing the city tax from pin ball machines and juke boxes.

Mayor Willis Conner appointed a committee to check taxes and determine what taxes need to be updated.

Portageville Mayor Takes Oath

PORTAGEVILLE— Roy Moore was sworn in as mayor at last night's town board meeting and Lewis Hoxworth and Don Rone Jr. as aldermen.

Leroy Widner was appointed chairman of the board to preside in the mayor's absence.

Appointed to the finance committee were Leroy Widner, chairman, and Ernest Moylan. Street and water committee members appointed were Leroy Widner, chairman, and Don Rone Jr.

Park commission members and fire department members appointed were Ernest Moylan, chairman, and Lewis Hoxworth.

Judge Dismisses Seven Court Cases

Magistrate Judge Lloyd Briggs heard 19 cases in court today. Five were for writing checks with insufficient funds, one armed robbery and one for displaying a deadly weapon. These cases were dismissed on payment of costs.

Assistant Proscutor John Wilson represented the state.

Curtis Joe Burnett, James Robinson, Harold E. Butler, and Welter E. Bowden, were charged with breaking in a store at 865 West Malone. The case was dismissed and costs certified.

Harold E. Butler, 110 Petty was charged with careless and reckless driving. The case was dismissed because he is serving a term in the state penitentiary on an armed robbery charge.

A 30-day jail sentence was stayed against Iris J. Leek, Morehouse, after she pleaded guilty to a charge of issuing a worthless check. Other cases dismissed after costs were paid on worthless check charges were Cornell Cassell, Charleston; D. Edwards, Bloomfield; Mrs. James Ward, 526 East Kathleen, and Ted Echols, 103 Westgate. A complaint was issued against David E. Ferguson, 133 North Ranney, on an insufficient funds check charge. The case of Carl Adams of 243 Thrush on the same charge was continued to next Tuesday.

Ellis R. Walker, route two, pleaded guilty to illegal car registration, and was fined $15.

Erwin Davis, 314 Adams, charges with assault on Wilma Davis, received a one-year stayed sentence on payment of costs.

Mary Kathryn Newell, Gray Ridge, pleaded guilty to having no car operator's license, but case was dismissed on payment of costs.

The bond of John Henry Barnes, 319 Ash, charged withdriving while intoxicated, was forfeited when he failed to appear in court.

Lanny Wade Satterfield, 112 Third St., charged with illegal use of car license, pleaded guilty and was fined $15.

Bennie Wade Satterfield, 112 Third St., charged with illegal use of car license plates, was fined $15.

Council Okays Park Equipment

The city council last night agreed to pay 25 per cent of the cost of new recreational equipment for West End Park.

The remaining cost will be paid by federal funds furnished by the Law Enforcement Assistance Council.

The project to provide the equipment is sponsored by the police department, sheriff's department, Sunset Block Club, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and other organizations.

Sponsors of the project said the recreational equipment would "provide the beginning" for activities at the park and would help to curb a rising crime rate in the area.

Total cost for the project is $393.

The city's cost for the equipment is $98. Equipment to be purchased includes softballs, basketballs, footballs, volleyballs, and arts and crafts equipment.

City Manager Raymert Miller called the project worthwhile and said the city's cost was a "tremendous bargain."

The council accepted the only bid submitted for the construction of an underground gasoline storage tank and gasoline pump. The tank and pump will be used for the city's vehicles.

The bid accepted was from Mid-South Steel Products of Cape Girardeau for $2,161.90. The pump and the 10,000-gallon storage tank will be by the street department on North Street.

Bids were accepted on the removal of two houses at the rear of the old post office. When completed the lots will be used for parking spaces for the new city administrative offices and police department.

The bid accepted was from Odis Hill of Sikeston, who agreed to pay the city $900 for the two homes. Hill said he would remove them himself and relocate them.

A small house at 515 Hart St. was declared condemned last night and ordered destroyed or removed. The house is owned by Billy R. Long.

The council passed three ordinances calling for the paving of Petty Street from Compress Road to Maude; Alabama St. from Washington to Compress Road; and Washington from Westgate to Alabama.

Dwight Crader and George T. Johnson were reappointed to the boad of adjustments for three year terms. Crader is chairman of the board.

Four-Lane Growth In Highway Plan

Four lane development on highway 60 to beyond Van Buren and on highway 67 north of Poplar Bluff are included in a 12-year intercity- interegional $1.4 billion highway program proposed by the Missouri highway commission.

W. H. Shaw, chief engineer of district 10 of the state highway department, said last night that the program would be financed by increases in car and truck fees, a two-cent increase in the gasoline tax and a bond issue of not more than $475 million. He spoke to the Rotary club at the Rustic Rock Inn.

Four-lane highways would be built south of Rolla under the program but a choice would depend on traffic volume. He predicted that it might be on highways leading to the new Caruthersville bridge across the Mississippi river, which, he said, is expected to increase traffic.

He said that the improvements would cost less if the work was begun at once and interest was paid on the bonds than on a deferred basis because of rising costs through inflation.

Missourians would be required to vote approval of the bond issue if the legislature adopts the highway department's program. Six major bridges would be built under it.

Shaw was introduced by Alex Waters. Debbie Launius played the piano.

Grenade Handled Like Hot Potato

Police were called to 410 North Street this morning when Arnold Crowden reported he found a "live" hand grenade.

Crowden said that he tore down an old shed on his property and in cleaning the debris discovered the grenade. The pin was in the explosive, but the handle apparently had rusted off.

Sgt. Leonard Campbell said the grenade was taken to the country where it will be stored until police decide how to dispose of it.

Campbell said it might be thrown into the Mississippi river.

Bernie to Buy Radios

BERNIE— Mayor R. B. Woods told the board that the city has received a $1,119 grant from the Bootheel Law Enforcement Council, Malden, to purchase two radios.

The board authorized Water Superintendent Harold Stevens to take a course in water management in Neosho.

The board approved the laying of a water line in Bowman addition.

Hearing Set In Shooting

NEW MADRID— Preliminary hearing on a homocide charge against Walter DeWitt Burns, 19, route one, Parma, has been set for 9 a.m. Thursday in Magistrate court. Magistrate Judge Leo Hedgepeth set $5,000 bond for Burns and appointed Charles Spitler defense attorney.

Eye Lost in Gun Injury

Humphries underwent surgery for three hours.

He is being treated for wounds sustained Sunday at 11:30 p.m. from a .22 caliber rifle gunshot wound, which officers said was accidental and self inflicted.

He is employed for A and B Construction Company in Perryville.

BEWARE OF REPORTING ON CHINA

Some of the media have done a complete flip on Red China after the U.S. ping-pong players were let in. Time magazine heralded the event as a "Whole New Game," while Newsweek headlined it: "A New Game Begins." Meanwhile, back at the ranch in Washington, diplomats are doing their best to avoid any reference to "Red China." They now insist on using the official Communist terminology: "The People's Republic of China," despite the fact that the People's Daily in Peking is keeping up its vicious headline attacks on the U.S.A.

Some of the worst reporting was done, not by the ping-pong players, but by Life magazine's Hong Kong Bureau Chief, John Saar. Some of the best reporting was done by the New York Times' correspondent, Tillman Durdin.For neophytes, some of the table-tennis squad did quite well in sizing up the situation.

Reported Life's Bureau Chief: "The Chinese are obviously healthy ... They seemed very content within themselves, content with their lot and sure of themselves, knowing where they are going." He went on to say that there is "absolutely no misery, no hunger" in Communist China.

The Gallup Poll had better fold up, when Life magazine has a man who can come to such detailed conclusions without the need to take any polls or talk to anyone but government stooges. He learned so much about 24 per cent of the earth's population in just a few days! Gallup had better quit.

Contrast the sweeping testimony of Life's Hong Kong Bureau Chief with that of 17-year old Olga Soltesz, a ping-pong player from Orlando, Florida: "It is very primitive ... Even a big city like Peking wasn't anything like Orlando ... There were no cars, only a few buses, and everybody rode bicycles."

Tillman Durdin, the New York Times reporter, visited a nursery in Shanghai and reported that the 5-year olds were singing: "We unite and struggle in Asia, Africa and Latin America; people join to defeat the U.S. aggressors and their running dogs." The children stay in the nursery all day while their parents work. Many stay there all the time, he reported, except for a visit home on weekends.

At one point in the discussions with Red China's Chou-En-lai, the Premier asked the table-tennis team: "Now criticize our country." But no one would. There was not one American to ask why Chou's government had never freed the 345 American POW 's after the Korean War, or whether any of them are still alive. There was no one willing to ask about the Four Freedoms and when Chou and his regime would finally start extending them to the 750 million Chinese people. All our table-tennis players saw was the smile on the face of the tiger.

THE ENEMY SMILES

After all the millions of insults Red China has hurled at us, after all the Americans she killed in Korea and helped kill in Vietnam, after all the guerrilla warfare, bombing and terrorism Peking has promoted against us even in our own country, are we now supposed to forgive and forget just because the mighty Mao has let his teams play us in ping pong? It is as though we had cancelled the Inchon landing because Kim Il Sung of North Korea has invited us to play a game of chess.

Before we get carried away, we should remind ourselves that socialism is nothing more than seizing power in the name of the "peepul." On mainland China the socialists (Communists) seized all the wealth, both personal and corporate. What were the results? The economic resources of the country were soon exhausted. The bungling policies of the bureautcrats destroyed the confidence of the people in their government. The economy grew stagnant, and the leadership grew old and tired. The small agricultural output and the tiny gross national product that resulted were the logical consequences of bureaucratic statism. Socialism never fails to produce such results.

What has to be done on mainland China, before any progress can be made, is to provide incentives for the people to work. Initiative has to be restored. Hope has to be renewed. The four freedoms have to be brought back; freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom from want, and freedom from fear. This can only be done by returning to a system of free enterprise. But Communism will have to start. They have no intention of giving up their stranglehold on the political, business, and personal lives of their subjects. Socialism is nothing but a total power grab. It is the enemy of democracy.

THE TAX UPROAR

Many of our states, operating under the authority of old and almost forgotten statutes, have attempted to meet demands for still more money from school boards and other subordinante taxing districts, by increasing the assessed valuation of real property. In many of the states and counties, computers were used to adjust assessed valuations to "current market values," that is to values in terms of the current worth of the dollar.

The impact of the unexpected and hefty tax increase on literally millions of households brought a reaction that was not expected by public officials involved. Heads of households operating on forever tight budgets, were completely unprepared for the real property tax increases ranging from as low as 30 per cent to as high as 200 per cent. Taxpayers and rent payers have reacted by forming a multiple number of tax protest associations and by descending in swarms on the legislative bodies, on school boards, and all other taxing districts to demand that government spending be brought under control.

Elderly homeowners were and are particularly dismayed by the property tax boost. Living on fixed incomes and lacking the stamina to fight back, they face the certainty of the loss of their homes and the ultimate trip to our present day concept of the poor house. They all know, and we all know, that older dwellings have not really increased in value. The new assessed values are a fiction which measure not the increased value of the older building, but the debased value of the dollar. They all know, as we know, that the rug is being pulled out from under them. In short, the elderly homeowners have had it.

What about the young head of a household who has embarked on the dream of home ownership. His problem is exactly the same, but he is young enough to do some thinking and to fight back. No young man with a family in his right senses, looking at the dilemma of the old timer who is about to lose his or her home to the tax collector, is likely to walk into the same trap. To avoid it he must prepare and persist in cutting away a lot of the underbrush which has grown up in our social and economic thinking during the last 38 years or so.

We are now learning there is truth in "the power to tax is the power to destroy" which has been initiated by the spenders in all levels of government.

MITCH MILLER'S MEN

I love "Sing Along With Mitch." I like to watch all those big homely fat guys as well as the short homely guys singing for all they're worth. It reminds me of the old days among the union organizers and the radicals.

You'll notice the American Medical Association and the National Association of Manufacturers do not sing.

In the early days of the New Deal we all sang the TVA song (to the tune of "On Top of Old Smokey):

Where once private power
Said it couldn't be done
You can see farmlights twinkling,
You can hear high lines hum.
Fertilizer and power
are reclaiming the soil
And REA co-ops help
lighten the toil.

But the few conservatives on the Lower East Side of New York were rather cynical about the whole thing (to the tune of Maryland, My Maryland):

The working class can kiss my ass,
I got the forman's job at last.

Harry Golden

Deaf mutes can talk to each other much faster than people who converse in spoken language. Their hands are far quicker than the human tongue. Experts estimate that by movements of the fingers, wrist and arms as many as 700,000 signs can be formed.

Quotable notables: "Middleaged rabbits don't have a paunch, do have their own teeth, and haven't lost their romantic appeal."—Dr. Aurelia Poter, endocrinologist.

History lesson: What U.S. presidents bore the following nicknames: "Man of the People"; "Old Man Eloquent"; "Galena Tanner"; "Dynamo of Power"? They were Abraham Lincoln, John Quincy Adams, U.S. Grant, and Theodore Roosevelt.

Grass is one of nature's chief coolants. An acre of grass, according to the National Geographic Society, releases about 2,400 gallons of water into the air on a single summer day. This evaporation has the cooling power of a 70-ton air conditioner.

Big dollar lady: When it comes to making money, today's top stars in baseball, pro football and basketball are pikers compared to the late Sonja Henie, the Norwegian ice skater. She is reported in the record books as having amassed a fortune of $47.5 million.

A lot of feathers: What is the most numerous form of bird life? That honor belongs to the plain old barnyard chicken, followed probably by starlings and English sparrows. But ornithologists believe that passenger pigeons, extinct since 1914, once were the most abundant birds on earth. North America once held an estimated five billion of them.

Water hazard: Of some 1,400 people known to have tried to swim the English Cahnnel, more than 1,200 were defeated by heavy tides or choppy seas in the 21-mile stretch. Only three swimmers—all men— have accomplished the feat of making round-trip, nonstop crossings.

It was Franz Kafka who observed, "Every revolution evaporates, and leaves behind only the slime of a new bureaucracy."

Bad Trip

Forty recruits will begin training May 2, at the new Missouri State Highway Patrol Law Enforcement Academy in Jefferson City. This is the first class of recruits to enter the modern training facility.

Colonel E. I. (Mike) Hockaday, the PATROL Superintendent, stated that the recruits will receive 24 weeks (five - day week) of continuous academic training at the academy. Those men who successfully complete the special police and college courses offered during the training period will be commissioned and assigned to a troop. They will work under the supervision of an experienced officer in the troop for two months and will then return to the academy for approximately one month for further classroom study.

The following men have been selected to enter the Highway Patrol's academy beginning May 2:

Ronald L. Hedrick, Jefferson City; William E. Hughes, Springfield; Daniel P. Kelly, St. Charles; James J. King, Piedmont; Ronald E. King, Dexter; James E. Lane, Columbia; Terry W. Lay, Overland; Richard W. Lindsay, Springfield; James P. Lysaght, St. Joseph; Arnold R. Mantle, Jefferson City; Lawrence D. Meservey, Trenton; Kenneth E. Middleton, Joplin; Paul M. Mulholland, Moberly; Mack Nations, Moberly; Espey Newman, Jr., Carthage;

PING, PONG AND SLAM
PING, PONG AND SLAM

Anyone interested in Chinese politics simply has to know about ping pong, or table tennis, and we have resorted to the National Geographic Society for exhaustive research. It seems that the name of the game is imitative of the sound, and the first known mention of it was in 1884 London catalogue. The inventor may have been an American or an Englishman or anybody else, but it was the British who really adopted it. The invention of the speedy celluloid ball about 1900 prompted its popularity.

Today, it must be understood, good players do not simply ping and pong. They stand as much as 20 feet behind the table and slam the ball. "It smarts if it hits the head," a player explains. And at all this the Chinese have become the best; they used to win international matches regularly and won handily upon their return to world competition in Japan recently. Their 4-2 defeat of the touring American team could be put down to good clean fun or noblesse oblige (applause, applause. and thoughts of Mao). Still, one does not have to be hit in the head to suspect there was more to it than that. -Post Dispatch

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
Kosygin-Muskie Talks Reported, Despite Embassy Promise; Premier Fumes, Likening Israelis To American Gangsters; Angrily Delcares Israel Must Pull Out of Occupied Area

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON--A hush-hush report to the State Department on Senator Ed Muskie's recent conversations with Soviet leaders reveals, ominously, that Premier Alexei Kosygin spoke "in uncompromising harsh terms" about the Middle East.

A U.S. embassy interpreter Sol Polansky, accompanied Muskie to the Kremlin with the understanding that his notes would belong to the Senator, not to the State Department.

Later, however, the State Department demanded a full report on the talks. Despite Ambassador Jacob Beam's agreement to respect Muskie's rights to his own confidential conversations, the embassy obediently submitted a detailed summary intended for the eyes only of top Administration officials.

We have been shown a copy of the summary, which gives the highlights of Muskie's four-hour meeting with Premier Kosygin and earlier visit with Foreign Minitster Andrei Gromyko.

"Kosygin," states the summary, "appeared sober, attentive throughout, with some iciness showing through when talking about Jewish problem and heat when talking about Vietnam, and in general was conspicuously more doctrinaire and polemical than Gromyko."

When the conversation got around to the Middle East, Muskie stressed that no area had more potential for destroying any constructive US-Soviet relationship, that it has poisoned the atmosphere on both sides, and resolution of this problem will help eliminate others.

--KOSYGIN'S CASE--

"Kosygin replied in uncompromising harsh terms, charging specifically that:

"A. Israel is settling people on seized Arab territories.

"B. US did not call for settling Arab-Israeli conflict by peaceful means but supported aggression--another example, he said, where US takes position 'on other side of barricade from SU" where major problem is involved.

"C. Israel is like gangster who in US (where there can be large-scale gangster problem) might seize your house and demand that you negotiate with him for its return.

"D. Rejoicing in USG (U.S. government) circles over Israel's victory surprised USSR since 200 million Arabs will never be reconciled to loss of territory, and this has become nflammatory factor in the situation.

"E. Arabs will remember US policy and this will not create confidence but rather will build tension by mplication between Arabs and U.S."

Kosygin added "that USSR had said all along that Israel must exist as independent state but must give up occupied territories. USSR was acting in accordance with the relevant SC (United Nations Security Council) resolution.

"Muskie replied that the situation is not black and white as Kosygin described it. It is a question of what is really security.

"Acting as if Israel does not have a security problem is not going to allow a settlement.' It is necessary to deal with both Arab desire to recover territories and Israeli desire for security," Muskie said.

--MUSKIE, GROMYKO ARGU

Earlier, Muskie reported to Gromyko on his talks with both Israeli and Egyptian officials. The summary quotes Muskie as saying: "While neither side wishes the resumption of hostilities, except as a last resort, their respective positions on territory makes the possibility of settlement discouraging...

"Gromyko questioned Israel's view that it can gain security by clinging to occupied territory...'It seems to us that when offered peace and effective guarantees, Israel runs away.'

"There was entended discussion of Israeli view of security with Muskie expressing understanding of Israeli feeling about Golana Heights. 'This is not question of logic.'

"Gromyko argued against need for even minor rectifications, saying that USSR would have answered similar withdrawal offer from Nazi Germany with massed artillery salvos.

"Muskie replied that he distinguished between acquisition of territory in war and rectifications of borders in areas sensitive to security of one or another state. He cited example of Soviet borders with Finland and Poland and the Oder-Neisse border. He also recalled that it was only after Six Day War that UAR (Egypt) was ready to concede Israel's right of passage through Suez and right to exist.

"Gromyko argued, in turn, that US position on what is necessary to achieve a settlement has continued to expand since 1967, and he referred to international convention which states that UAR has sovereignty over canal, and if UAR agrees to Israeli passage, it should be considered a goodwill gesture of peace.

"Gromyko also asserted that US could exert 'sobering influence' on Israel to get it to agree to peaceful settlement."

Footnote: The unauthorized embassy summary, incidentally, completely contradicts House GOP Leader Gerald Ford's recent attack upon Muskie. Ford gave a distorted account of what Muskie had told Kosygin, although the GOP high command had a complete report of the conversation. Apparently, Ford hoped his attack would keep wealthy Jews from contributing to Muskie's presidential campaign.

HOME OWNERS WANT LAW SPRINKLERS

If you had $2,400 for buying optional extras for you home, what would you buy? This was the key question in a survey of home buyers in the $22,000 to $26,000 range by the U. S. Home and Development Corporation.

Air conditioning headed the list with 51.7 per cent respondents, while an underground sprinkler system took second place with 42.8 per cent.

Dr. James R. Watson, Jr., director of agronomy for Toro Manufacturing Corporation, producer of automatic undergound sprinkler systems, said that the homeowner is interested in sprinklers because "more time is spent on hand watering than in any other lawn-care activity."

H.L. Hunt Says

Military code names usually don't survive long, except in military history. But Lam Son 719 may be different. It could weigh heavily on our affairs and those of Southeast Asia.

Lam Son 719 was the code designation for the South Vietnamese -U.S. incursion into Laos and already various factions of this nation, indeed the world, are debating its results. Some say that President Nixon and Saigon simply broadened and lengthened the war by using South Vietnamese ground forces and U.S. air power to strike at the communist supply system. Others contend that the enemy unilaterally broadened the war years ago and it was necessary to hasten our disengagement from all of Indo-China.

The more logical conclusion seems to be that it is too early to assess Lam Son 719. U.S. sources and Saigon differ on the number of casualties suffered by the South Vietnamese and communist forces. We may have to rely on time to tell for if the enemy losses were so severe they will be unable to strike in force again in Cambodia and South Vietnam.

Material and manpower losses suffered by the enemy will play a vital part in future operations. Thus we can see why Lam Son 719 was significant in military decisions ahead.

The communist Tet offensive in 1968 was made to appear to be a North Vietnamese victory at first, but it turned out to be a crippling defeat for future offensive operations. It proved far more significant to the political fate of President Lyndon Johnson. His decision to retire from office and politics generally came in the wake of Tet which agitators used to stir radicals and fellow travelers into massive protests of the war.

President Nixon may feel, eventually, the political results of Lam Son 719. If future operations are not profitable to our side as a result of Lam Son 719, Nixon's decisions will in all likelihood backfire on him.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

HARD HAT VENDETTA:
Meany Whips Up Labor
To Purge Nixon in '72
By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON:--In London town's 10 Downing Street not too long ago, I learned that the then prime minister, Laborite Harold Wilson, had as impeccable a touch for politics as he had Churchillian taste for cigars. But when I conversed with the former prime minister in New York's Waldorf Tower the other day I noted he had either slipped a bit, or perhaps the intricacies of American politics was a bit much.

In planning his brief visit to the U.S. he had made a midnight appointment with Sen. Hubert Humphrey, an 8 a.m. picture-taking breakfast date with President Nixon, Friday, April 30, and a visit with former President Johnson at the ranch.

But somehow, though it must have appeared to him that he touched all bases, he did not get to home plate -- meaning George Meany, AFL-CIO president, who has now vowed to drive Richard Nixon from office.

This is significant. Meany, in fact, is the titular head of America's shadow party, actually the most viable party in the land, the party with the ability to get there "fustest with the mostest". Namely, the Committee on Political Education (COPE).

Now in speech after speech, Meany, who apparently has bottled some of that Ponce de Leon, fountain of youth aqua pura, is denouncing President Nixon and mocking Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur Burns as an "egghead" who would have been sent to Siberia were he an economic adviser in the Soviet Union. He is whipping up labor's political activists, and over and over again threatening the President, the administration and all those who agree with them that there will be political reprisals in 1972.

Not in decades has labor's top chief traveled so much, spoken so furiously and concentrated so hard on any president. Those around him say this now is an attack on President Nixon and his domestic policies, not on the Republican Party nor the White House's foreign policy.

There's something fierce in the persistency of the Meany assaults on Mr. Nixon, the game plan, the economic policies and especially on Arthur Burns. This is explained by some insiders as "the hard hat's revenge."

Meany prides himself on having been a Bronx plumber, a construction worker, an intimate of the old-timers such as the retired Edward Carlough, also from the Bronx, once head of the Sheet Metal Workers; plumber's president, Peter Schoemann, who will retire on June 1; retired Dave Sullivan, until recently head of the Service Employes (not exactly a construction union but close to the field), et al.

So Meany has taken personally and professionally Mr. Nixon's quite gentle handling of the 17 building and construction unions -- the hard core of the AFL-CIO. Meany has said again and again that they have been made the "whipping boy" in the fight on inflation.

And the hard hat chiefs have cheered when the tough labor leader has said, in effect, come 1972 we will purge the President. How? Through the labor movement's COPE, which Meany says "is the finest political organization in the U.S."

And I do believe it is. It has activists in virtually every community of any size in the nation. This would put it in more than 1,000 cities and towns. It is well financed. Just how well is a state secret. Financial statements are numbered before they are distributed to the COPE chiefs. They are permitted to examine them for a few minutes, then they are collected as each number is checked off.

This year COPE has scheduled eight regional conferences -- as the kickoff of the presidential campaign. It has all the manpower it needs.

And imagination, too. For example, it has planned a revolution in communications for millions of federation members. In the next few days it will be releasing its COPE Report on pre-taped cassettes.

This is a half-hour cartridge. On one side are speeches by national labor leaders and such Democratic leaders as Sens. Ted Kennedy, Gaylord Nelson, Scoop Jackson and Congresswoman Martha Griffiths. On the other side are messages, political arguments, statistics, etc., which can be used in campaigns. Thematic background music consists of special arrangements of "Solidarity Forever," "Which Side Are You On," "On the Picket Line," and "Roll The Union On."

Tape decks are available for $50. Thus, if the cassette program produced by former all-pro offensive guard for the Detroit Lions, John Gordy (and former president of the National Football League Players Assn.), goes well at $1.50 a cassette a month, this simple device could reach millions at union meetings at little cost.

And in each speech, be it at the 4,000-delegate Building and Construction Trades Dept.'s legislative assembly here or at Lou Stulberg's Ladies Garment Workers Convention, Meany tells Nixon just wait for '72.

"Go back home and think of 1972, think of Al Barkan and the COPE organization," he tells delegates. Or, "In November of 1972, we will answer Dr. Burns and those who feel that the nation's future lies in a crackdown on labor...And construction workers will play their part in this activity of the organized trade union movement." Or, "We are preparing in 1971 for the political action which is so important in 1972..."

Sikeston Students Place In Top Twenty in Drafting

Four students representing Sikeston high school design drafting class at the 22nd annual Southeast Missouri Industrial Education awards program at State college in Cape Girardeau Friday and Saturday placed in the top 20 of 143 contestants.

Robert Rosenquist, teacher of the class, reported that of a possible 100 points, senior Carla Collier was the highest with 99. Don Davidson had 97, Bruce Wolferding with 96 and Carl Schorle 90. They are juniors.

Each of the winning contestants won a trophy and is eligible to participate in state competition at Columbia Saturday.

Senior winners will have an opportunity for scholarships from state colleges, Missouri university and other schools.

Ann Admits She's Wrong About Wife Keeping Score

Dear Readers: Remember the letter from the San Mateo wife who marked a calendar so she could keep count of how many times her husband made love to her? The response to that letter was an eye-opener. I had no idea thousands of other wives were ALSO keeping calendars. These women have convinced me that I was too hard on the gal who wrote. Here are excerpts from the mail which proves once more that everybody knows better than anybody.

Dear Ann Landers: I've been married eight years and I don't even write to my own mother, but your insensitive answer to the San Mateo wife made my blood boil. This is my second marriage. My first husband came home for lunch every day and didn't even eat. I thought I'd lose my mind. My present husband said to me after our third child was born, "Now I hope you will stop bothering me for sex." So, I have known both extremes and I can tell you, too much is better than too little. --- Feast or Famine In LaPorte.

Dear Ann Landers: I sympathize with San Mateo. I have the same problem, only I don't need to keep a calendar. I know the count --- my birthday, his birthday, Christmas and the Fourth of July. When I told my husband his low sex drive was not normal for a man of 30 and suggested he see a doctor, he said, "I'm just fine. YOU should see a doctor." Your column was pinned to my pillow last night. Thanks for nothing. --- Hungry in Hartford.

Dear Ann: Your advice to San Mateo stank. Did it ever occur to you that the poor woman DID make several passes at her husband and was turned down? Do you realize what this can do to a female's ego? Four years ago, after a spell of seven months with no loving, I decided to vamp my cold fish into submission. I bought a $25 nightgown, a bottle of Joy cologne and had my hair done. Do you know what he said? "Stop pestering me or I'll belt you one." My husband is 27 -- not 77. So don't tell me I need counseling. --- Cold Bed In Columbus.

Dear Ann Landers: Your suggestion that a wife be the aggressive one if her husband is not the type does not work for all men. I was married to a man who told me point-blank not to ask him -- that when he wanted me, he'd let me know. After waiting one solid year for him "to let me know" I became disgusted and I let his lawyer know. Today I am happily married to a man whose sex appetite matches mine and I am divinely happy.---Atlanta.

Dear Ann Landers' You conveniently overlooked several possibilities which might explain why a man in his 20's is starving his wife sexually. I know what I'm talking about because my first husband was bisexual, my second husband was impotent and my third husband was too tired for me but had plenty of energy for every waitress in town. How can you be so dumb, Ann Landers? --- Olivia of Battle Creek

Dear Ann Landers: You really blew it. Why didn't you tell San Mateo to check out her husband's male relatives. Dead batteries run in families, you know. My husband has three brothers -- all married. We wives are good friends -- perhaps because misery loves company. All of us are hungry for love. One day I decided to ask my mother-in-law if she could account for "the problem." Her answer spoke volumes. She said, "The boys inherited it from their father. We've been married 43 years and if you want to know what our love life was like -- just count the kids." ---Enlightened But Still Starving.

So thanks to all who wrote to tell me I was wrong. I have conluded that both parties should get counseling.

Give in or lose him...when a guy gives you this line, look out! For tips on how to handle the super sex salesman, check Ann Landers. Read her booklet, "Necking And Petting -- What Are The Limits?" Meadow Lane Garden Club Tours Homes

The Meadow Lane Garden Club met Monday afternoon. Members toured the flower gardens of three members, Mrs. Jeri Schlosser, Mrs. Virginia Weidemann and Mrs. Ruth Lee, where refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The group assembled first at the home of Mrs. Schlosser, where a business session was held with Mrs. L. A. Schuerenberg, president, presiding.

Correspondence included a note from the publicity chairman of the Cape Girardeau Council of Garden Clubs, inviting the club members to attend a spring flower show "Happy Birthday Missouri" May 15 -16. The show will be on the third floor of the Hirsch Tower from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Mrs. Weidemann gave a report of the flower show school she attended in Farmington. Mrs. Schuerenberg reported that she and Mrs. Naomi Davis gave a flower arranging program before the Women's Club in Lilbourn.

Mrs. Weidemann also gave a program on "Azaleas".

Extension Leaders Have Program on Todays Knits

BENTON — "Understanding Todays Knits" was the subject of a program for textiles and clothing extension club leaders.

The program was conducted by the University Extension Division at Scott County Extension Center. Twelve club leaders from Scott county were present.

Information was presented concerning the impact of knit fabric in todays clothing industry. Marketing people have said that knits now represent 50% of all women's wear and that men's fashions are increasingly accepting knit fabrics. Sport coats and shirts are not only being made of knit but dress suits as well.

Basic knitting methods were illustrated at the meeting and fiber and blend used in knits.

Tips were suggested for selecting and sewing knit for the homemaker who wishes to design her own.

The "Fabric and You - Knits" a publication of the University of Missouri extension division served as a reference for the lesson. This is available for anyone desiring infomation about the subject at extension offices.

Births

HENSLEY— Mr. and Mrs. Toney Hensley, Benton, are the parents of a son born at 11 p.m. Saturday in the Missouri Delta Community Hospital. He weighed seven pounds, 15 ounces, and has been named Kevin Wayne. He is the second son and third child.

Mrs. Moore is the former Shirley Tucker. Hensley is employed by Ludlow in Cape Girardeau.

Bonnie Jo Bush

Bush Nations

Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Bush of Owensboro, Ky., announce the engagement of their daughter, Bonnie Jo, to Robert Braxton Nations, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Nations of Cape Girardeau.

Miss Bush is a 1964 graduate of Sikeston high school and a 1968 graduate of Southeast Missouri State College in Cape Girardeau.

ART FOR MAN'S SAKE

I went to see Sikeston Little Theatre's production of the musical "Mame". Although I am not a Judith Crist (critic for NBC), I felt I could compare the performance because I had seen Angela Lansbury play "Mame" on Broadway. She won the 1966 "Tony Award" for that performance. Pasty Mitchell played that role in the Sikeston production. Our Little Theatre group are not professionals, however, even the professionals could not deny that these people put more work, dedication and love into these plays as do the professionals (more so, since they do not get pay). Even without the background of an orchestra, the songs they sang were as effective as on Broadway (as the pianist beat her fingers to the bone pounding away the musical score), and the story told delighed and touched the heart. The people who give so much of their time (on stage and behind the scenes) all deserve "Tony Awards." Have you seen the TV commercial about the arts saying "Take away all of man's arts and man may find himself up a tree." The civic center Sikeston is working so hard to make a reality should be supported by us, so that we do not find ourselves up a tree.

Speaking of giving out awards and compliments, this Sunday is the day we honor Mother. Although she deserves this treatment everyday, we seem to find it necessary to designate a day that we can tell the world how we feel about Mother. Let's try to show her on more "unofficial" days.

Our showcase window this week features apparel for staying at home in a relaxing way. The long look seems to be the fashion trend with long cotton loungewear in robes, dresses and culottes. There are also matching tricot robes and gowns (with scuffs to match) that feel good to the skin but are concealingly opaque. We even have dusters suitable for a motherly chore such as cooking breakfast. Staying at home is become more of a pleasure and a privilege all the time, and our "stay-at-home" clothes are becoming more attractive.

From now through May 15, we have set aside this time to especially say "Thank you for shopping with us." We hope you know we feel this way everyday, but being human as the next guy, we have to have an official period to express our appreciation for your patronage. Stop by and let us thank you "officially."

Preakness Next

Not surprisingly, the upset victory by Canonero II in the 20-horse Kentucky Derby last Saturday has done little to scare off the opposition for the second of the Triple Crown races.

The Kentucky-bred, who was sold for $1,200 as a yearling and then was raced in Venezuela, returned $19.40 for a $2 bet after winning the Derby, but the payoff probably would have been astronomical had he not been made one of six field horses.

Churchill Downs officials hit the other five field horses right on the nose, as they finished in the last five positions. But Canonero II, with Gustavo Avila aboard, came out of the pack to win by a widening 3¾ lengths.

From five to seven of the Derby horses who trailed Canonero II are expected to face the colt again at Pimlico in the May 15 Preakness as he continues the quest to become the first Triple Crown winner since Citation in 1948.

Another 10 or 11 horses quartered at eastern tracks, headed by Good Behaving, Salem, Executioner, Limit To Reason, Dynatic, Your Excellency and Leematt, are considered possibilities.

The $150,000-added Preakness, which at 1 3-16 miles is shorter than the 1¼ mile Derby, will be run on a track which is much narrower than Churchill Downs.

So, if more than 14 entries are made, the Preakness will have to be run in two divisins for only the second time in history.

The first time was in 1918, when there were 26 entries. Ten scratches resulted in one division of 10 horses and one of six.

In 1928, a record Preakness field of 18 went to the post. That was when a webbed barrier instead of a starting gate was used, and there was no state pacing rule giving each starter a minimum of five feet of track.

Final Set

BROSELEY – Twin Rivers blanked the Puxico Indians, 5-0, and Neelyville defeated Naylor in eight innings, 5-3, in the semifinals of the Broseley sub-district baseball tournament played Monday afternoon.

Fred Potter, Twin Rivers pitcher, allowed Puxico only three safeties while striking out 13.

Twin Rivers, despite a total of 16 strikeouts by two Puxico pitchers, was able to score five times and win. It advanced to the Thursday afternoon finals.

Twin Rivers plated two runs in the second and one each in the fifth, sixth and seventh for its total of five.

Neelyville used the home run to drive in four of its five runs.

Neither team could score in the first inning but Jack McKinley homered in the second and Neelyville took a 1-0 lead. Neelyville scored one more in the third.

Nahlor managed to cut the lead to one by scoring one of its own in the fourth. Naylor tied the score with a run in the sixth.

With the score tied, 2-2, at the end of seven Tom Trice walloped a three - run homer to win the game.

In the B class race first place winner was Vance Cook, W. D. 45, of Jonesboro; second place winner was 333 Dickie Jackson of Paragould; and third place winner was 413 Don Highfill of Paragould.

The non winners race was a photo finish with Calvin Robertson of Poplar Bluff, winning first place. Second place went to Hay of Sikeston and third place was won by Rick Barclay of paragould.

Littell Brothers Lead GHS Assault

WARDELL — Mark Littell, the high school baseball star to whom the San Diego Padres are reported to have offered a bonus contract, paced his Gideon teammates to the sub-district baseball championship Monday afternoon and into the state tournament. He fired a three hitter at North Pemiscot and won, 8-1.

Gideon continued to display its awesome power with the bats. It bombed four homers out of the park, two by Erick Littell. It will meet the winner of Thursday's Broseley sub-district final game.

Littell got the Bulldogs on the scoreboard in the first inning with a round tripper while brother, Mark, set out to shut out the host for five straight innings and Arnold Bell and Mark smacked two-run homers in the third and fourth innings.

Gideon added three insurance runs in the seventh on Eric's second homer of the game.

Big Red Owner Testifies

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A federal grand jury investigation here into the National Football League for possible antitrust violations continues today after testimony Monday from the owners of the St. Louis Cardinals and from NFL official Buddy Young.

The probe, which began in November, is expected to continue into September because of other grand jury business, according to U.S. attorney Carl L. Steinhouse, regional director for the Justice Department's anti-trust division.

Steinhouse said the length of the investigation is being caused by the fact the jury is in session only one week each month and has other cases.

Brothers Charles Bidwell, 42, and William Bidwell, 39, who own the Cardinals, testified separately Monday. They refused to discuss their testimony. They were accompanied by their attorney, Thomas D. Nash of Chicago.Clrence Buddy Young, a former star running back in the NFL who now works in the League's player relations office, testified Monday for the second time. Young had appeared before the jury in January.

The jury has centered its probe into charges of alleged blacklisting in the league.

SHS Netmen Finish 9-1

The Sikeston Bulldog tennis team finished its regular season Monday with a 6-3 win over the Chaffee Red Devils.

The Bulldogs ended their season tied with Kennett for first place in the SEMO Conference with identical 9-1 records. Each team defeated the other.

The Bulldogs play Wednesday in the sub-district tournament at Kennett.

In the singles it was Hunter Moore defeated by Sid Uhr, 2-6, 7-5, 1-6. Churck Leible lost to Larry Summers, 3-6, 6-3, 3-6. David Hahs lost to David Enderle 0-6, 3-6. Brad Buchanan beat Mike Stubbs, 6-0,6-1. John Leible beat Jim Rister, 6-2, 6-3. Bill Colwick beat Ricky Howard 6-0.

In doubles Chuck Leible and Moore beat Summers and Enderle 8-2. Hahs and Buchanan beat Uhr and Stubbs 8-5. John Leible and Colwick defeated Rister and Goin 6-2, 6-3.

Oran Nips Chaffee

ORAN — Coach David Bone's OHS Eagles scored a run in the sixth to squeak by the Chaffee Red Devils 3-2 in a Scott-Mississippi conference baseball game Monday afternoon.

Oran Pitching Ace Rick Irwin went two innings but picked up the win. Rogers lost for Chaffee.

Neither team could score in the first inning. Both pitchers retired the sides easily.

Chaffee pushed across a run in the top of the second to take a 1-0 lead going into the third. It added another run and led, 2-0, before Oran came to bat in the third.

The Eagles scored twice to knot the score, 2-2.

The game remained tied until the sixth when Johnny Williams singled home hot hitting Bradley Emerson with the winning tally.

Oran now has a 4-2 conference record and is in second place behind the East Prairie Eagles.

Record Turkey Kill

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The 1971 wild turkey season in Missouri closed Sunday noon with an all-time record kill of 2,864 toms.

There wzre 1,250 more gobblers taken this yearnthan the former record year of 1971— and even with the season extended to 11 days, it showed Missouri's 12th annual turkey shoot was successful.

Ste. Genevieve Countysstill remains the turkey kingdom leading the other 43 counties where turkey shooting is legal with a total of 189 birds. Last year Ste. Genevieve was tops with 155.

Crawford County was second this year with 164 toms or bearded hens and Dent County was a close third with 156.

The new record turkey was bagged by Bob Stephens of Salem. Stephens got the 33-pound, 13-ounce trophy in Dent County. His bird 5opped the former record 32-pounder taken in 1969 by Nolan Hutcheson of Houston, Mo.

The conservation department reported that the three new counties this year—Benton, Maries and Oregon—all produced well and 12 of the 44 counties showed at least 100 birds bagged. Of the three new counties,nBenton reported 24 birds, Oregon 21 and Maries 30.

Althoughnfigures are not yet complete on the 1971 season, the conservation department estimated about 12,000 to 14,000 hunters were in the woods this season.

What if you lost your job tomorrow?

Things may be going pretty good now. But you never know what tomorrow will bring.

Suppose it's unemployment. How will you live?

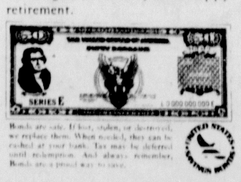

What will you use to tide the family over while you look? Excuses?

Let's hope you never have to find out. But just in case, why not start saving now, while you have a "job." Join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work and buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

It's an easy way to build a nest egg.

And now there's a bonus interest rate on all U.S. Savings Bonds—for E Bonds, 5½%, when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). That extra ½%, payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970 . . . with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds.

With any luck at all your emergency fund may become a vacation, a college education, or a happy retirement.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. What could be easier? They can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a good way to save.

Cards, Cubs 3-2 Victims

Was it a balk or wasn't it? Well ... yes ... and no. Would you believe almost? How about maybe?

The Chicago Cubs still don't believe it. They feel the balk that wasn't cost them a ballgame Monday night, in New York and let the Mets make off with a 3-2 victory on Tommie Agee's pinch single with two out in the 11th inning.

In the only other major league action, the Philadelphia Phillies edged the St. Louis Cardinals by an identical 3-2 score.

That was the situation when the argument started at Shea Stadium Monday night. Score tied 2-all, top of the ninth, bases loaded and Ron Santo, who had driven in a run with a sacrifice fly in the first inning, at bat.

Reliever Tug McGraw starts his windup, then steps back off the mound. "Balk!" yells third base umpire Stan Landes, and Ken Holtzman, the runner at third, trots happily plateward.

"No balk," overrules plate umpire Mel Steiner, explaining that he had signaled for time before McGraw started his move.

As you might expect, here comes Leo Durocher, the Chicago manager.

"How could you call time after he called a balk?" Durocher wants to know. "If you'll listen to me, I'll explain it to you," cajoles Steiner. "I signaled for time before the balk."

End of argument. What could Durocher say. The Lip was speechless and he remained so afterwards.

"It happens 15 or 20 times a game," said Steiner. "Santo was scratching around in the dirt with his spikes trying to get set and I held up my hand for time. I can't let McGraw quick-pitch him, can I? I've got to protect the hitter.

"Santo complained that he was in the batter's box. I told him I don't have to protect him when he's out of the box, do I?"

Santo then watched a third strike and Johnny Callison tapped to first for the third out.

The Mets won it when Jerry Grote, who doubled home their first run in the fourth inning, lashed a two-out double in the 11th, his fourth hit, off loser Holtzman, 0-4.

After an intentional pass to Tim Foli, Agee, who didn't start because of bruised ribs, batted for McGraw, 3-1, and punched a 3-2 pitch to right field.

"I saw Steiner put his hand up," McGraw said. "That's why I stopped my windup. In fact, I'm glad it was called the way it was. I didn't think it was a balk at all. I thought I stepped off the mound properly. Now I know."

McGraw picked up the triumph and also singled in his only at-bat, giving him two hits in three trips.

MONTREAL (AP) — John Miller, who tied Jack Nicklaus for second place at this year's Masters Tournament, will be competing in the $150,000 Canadian Open Golf Championship this year, it was announced today.

Grote singled in the seventh, took third on Foli's double and scored on Bud Harrelson's sacrifice fly to put the Mets ahead 2-1. The Cubs tied it in the eighth when Billy Williams drilled his sixth home run of the season.

In the night's only other game, the Phillies stopped the Cardinals 3-2 as Larry Bowa knocked in two runs with a bases-loaded single in the eighth inning.

Earlier, rookie right fielder Roger Freed shot down a St. Louis rally in the third inning by throwing ut speedy Lou Brock at home.

Freed's picture toss followed a bases-loaded single by Ted Simmons scoring Dal Maxvill and nailed Brock, who was trying to make it from second base. Maxvill's was the Cardinal only run in a 1-1 tie that existed until Bowa's tie-breaking hit in the eighth.

Freed's throw saved Philadelphia starter Barry Lersch, who held on to pick up his second victory of the season.

Tim McCarver opened the eighth with a single and tok second on Freed's sacrifice. After Don Money was intentionally walked and Larry Hisle rolled into a force out, pinch-hitter Ron Stone walked to set the stage for Bowa, who made the score 3-1.

The Cardinals made it close with a run in the ninth on Jim Beauchamp's sacrifice fly before reliever Joe Hoerner killed the rally.

Tryouts

Senior Babe Ruth tryouts will be at VFW stadium at 7 p.m. tonight under the direction of Commissioner Gerald Howard.

All graduates of Junior Babe Ruth and any boy who didn't play in the program last season is invited to try out.

Garr Nicknamed 'Road Runner'

ATLANTA (AP) — "I feel that if I had gotten off to a slow start, they would have sent me out," says Ralph Garr of the Braves.

So the young man Atlanta fans have nicknamed "Road Runner" because of his speed got off to a fast start—fast enough to carry him quickly to the No. 1 spot among National League hitters.

His average has been above .400 most of the season and reached a season high .434 last weekend. It is currently .400.

Ironically, the 25-year-old Grambling graduate might not be in the Brave lineup if it hadn't been for an injury suffered by the fellow who led the laague in hitting last year, Atlanta leftfielder Rico Carty.

Carty injured a knee playing winter ball and is lost to the Braves for at least half the season.

Garr, who had had only a couple of short stints previously with the Braves, stepped right into Carty's place, in left field and at the plate.

Pressure? Yes, Garr said in an interview Monday, even before the season started.

Garr and Braves vice president Paul Richards had contract difficulties during the off season. Garr said he had to "fight like a dog and earn everything I got from the Braves."

Stars Belt Colonels

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Kentucky Coach Frank Ramsey points to Wednesday's game as the key contest in the American Basketball Association's championship playoff.

"Well be in there Wednesday," Ramsey said Monday night after his Colonels absorbed a 136-117 pasting at the hands of the Utah Stars in the opening game of the series.

"If we are going to be a threat in this series, we've got to win Wednesday," Ramsey said.

Kentucky started off Monday's game as if it would break a season-long jinx in the Salt Palace. The Colonels have yet to win a game in the 13,200-seat facility.

Dan Issel scored 17 points in the first quarter as the Colonels jumped to a 12-point lead and led 35-26 entering the second quarter.

Then Utah's George Stone, a 6-8 reserve forward, got hot and it was all over.

Led by Stone, who scored 20 points in a 12-minute spree, Utah collected 50 points in the second quarter and piled up a margin that the Colonels couldn't overcome.

That 50-point outburst broke the ABA's playoff record for scoring in one quarter. The old record of 48 was set in 1968 by Pittsburgh and tied last year by Texas.

Issel, after a tremendous start, was held to 10 points the rest of the game, a key factor in Utah's victory. Guard Darrell Carrier picked up the slack for the Colonels, hitting 36 points including six three-pointers.

Utah Coach Bill Sharman said, "Issel is such a fantastic player and a great shooter that nobody is going to shut him off. But we started picking him up higher and gave Zelmo Beaty a little help."

Beaty and Stone led Utah scoring with 26 each. Ron Boone, another reserve, added 24. Stone grabbed 12 rebounds and Beaty had 16.

The Colonels got little punch besides Issel and Carrier. Louie Dampier had just three points and no other starter hit double figures.

After Wednesday's game in Salt Lake City, the teams switch to Louisville for Friday night and Saturday afternoon games. Then they alternate as needed for the rest of the series.

Monday's crowd of 12,061 brought Utah's home playoff attendance to 61,157 for six games.

SPORTS BRIEFS

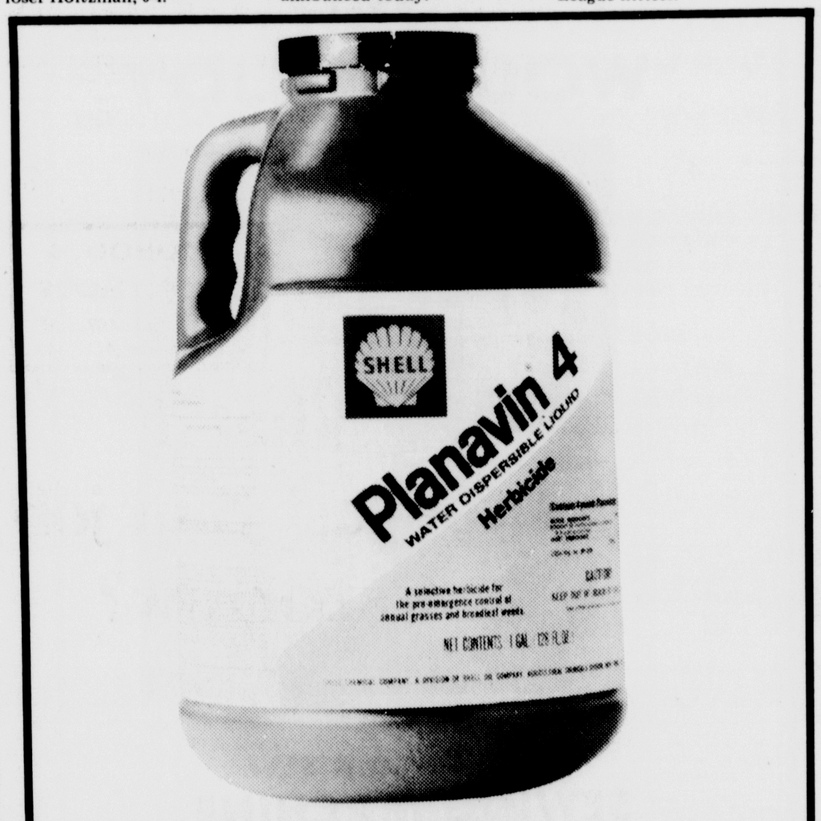

PATRIOTS' PROSPECTS

The success of the revitalized New England Patriots football team in the 1971 season depends on whether three quarterbacks can get it together. NFL veteran Joe Kapp, the team's coach, Johnny Mazur, who played quarterback 20 years ago and All-American rookie Jim Plunkett are the guys who will call the winning—or losing—plays.

CUT SPORTS SHORT?

Rep. Morris K. Udall, (D-Ariz.), in an effort to protect sports fans from themselves it seems, has proposed a bill designed to limit the length of the season during which each sport can be televised. Udall says he doesn't hate sports—in fact, he says he loves them but just doesn't want people turned off by too much of a good thing.

NATIONAL COMMITMENT TO CANCER CURE GETS SUPPORT

WASHINGTON, D.C.--A bill introduced by Senators Edward Kennedy (D-Mass.) and Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) which I am cosponsoring would call for the establishment of a federally funded National Cancer Authority targeting a nationwide program for the conquest of cancer.

To be organized as an independent agency, the Cancer Authority would provide a comprehensive program for curing cancer where none now exists.

Currently programs dealing with various aspects of cancer are sponsored by the National Cancer Institute as well as other divisions of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare and numerous private organizations.

The Conquest of Cancer Act, bill S.34, provides for the transfer of all operations, appropriations and responsibilities for cancer research from the National Cancer Institute to the National Cancer Authority, and charges the Authority with supporting and coordinating the efforts of existing research programs as well as the establishment of new ones. At the same time programs currently in operation under the National Cancer Institute would in no way be impeded while plans for expansion of cancer research are being developed.

Hearings on the bill, now cosponsored by more than 50 Senators, have recently been held by the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Subcommittee on Health and further action on the bill is expected in May or June.

The National Panel of Consultants on the Conquest of Cancer, appointed by the Committee, concluded in their report the necessity for a "coordinated national program" on cancer research. Although commending the past accomplishments of the NCI as worthwhile in themselves, the Panel states:

"There is real doubt whether the kind of organization that is required for this program can in fact be achieved within the National Institutes of Health or within the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. Apart from the question of whether it can be done, there is also the question of whether it would be wise to require the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare to attempt to give cancer the priority necessary to carry out the congressional mandate in a department charged with the multiple health and other responsibilities of that Department."

The Administration rejected the Panel's recommendation for an independent cancer research agency, but instead proposed a continuation of funding to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to carry out a cancer conquest program.

My office has thus far received over 3,000 letters in support of S.34 and if passed into law by Congress the bill could provide the means for intensified research in a concentrated program so desperately needed to prevent further spread of this devastating disease.

Hayti Man Hurt in Crash

HAYTI— Noel Wade, 40, Hayti, suffered cuts and internal injuries in a one-car accident at 3 p.m. Friday on the old Caruthersville gravel road a mile and a half east of Hayti.

A spokesman for Troop E Headquarters of the Missouri Highway patrol reported Wade was taken to the Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti and later transferred to the Baptist hospital in Memphis.

The patrol reported Wade was driving a 1970 Chevrolet pick-up west when he lost control on a curve and overturned.

One person was injured in a one-car accident at 2:15 a.m. Saturday on Highway 164 at the Steele junction.

The patrol reported Charles Glenn Jr., 26, Caruthersville, was driving a 1971 Ford west at a high rate of speed when he failed to round a curve and went into a ditch.

Robbie Lee Lallar, 26, Caruthersville, a passenger in the car, sustained face cuts and a possible back injury. He was taken to the Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital and later transferred to the Chickasawba Hospital in Blytheville.

CHINA AND THE PING PONG THAW

On my way back to the United States from South Vietnam during the Easter Congressional recess, I stopped briefly in Hong Kong, a teeming, active city of 4,000,000 persons on a tiny land space of 400 square miles.

A British colonial city, Hong Kong is loaded with "China watchers." Diplomats, journalists, traders, bankers, industrialists, they are persons who make it their business to decipher Red China's tactics, policies, and intentions.

Their unanimous opinion, I learned, is that the two-decade-old Chinese deep freeze is beginning to thaw, slowly yet measurably, and their invitation to the American ping pong team was the first sign.

The day I arrived in Hong Kong on my way back from Vietnam, the British-Chinese transoceanic telephone line was reopened after being closed for 21 years, and American newsmen were granted long-sought travel visas.

Red China is very much coming of age diplomatically and, apparently, it no longer will pursue a course of not-so-splendid isolation and international intransigence.

Recognition?

More and more non-communist nations are recognizing and dealing with Red China diplomatically--eight since October 13, 1970.

More and more nations are realizing that Red China, consisting of 25% of the world's population, is not only here to stay, but is also a vast source of potential in terms of international trade.

The Canton Trade Fair opened in China on April 16 with more than 3,000 foreign businessmen in attendance--the largest such group ever to assemble in Red China.

The much publicized, highly cordial visit of the U.S. ping pong team to China was followed by President Nixon's announcement of somewhat freer travel and trade between the U.S. and China.

In such a climate of change, the United States position with respect to either recognition of China or the admission of Red China to the United Nations cannot and should not remain frozen.

Quarantine Ruled Out

After Future Moon Flights

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Aeronautics and Space Administration says tests of moon rocks brought back by three lunar missons show there is no need to quarantine future returned astronauts.

Dr. George M. Low, NASAS acting administrator, said the results of studies on Apollo 11, 12, and 14 moon flights show "there is no hazard to man, animals or plants in the lunar material."

The crews of all three missions were isolated immediately upon their return from the moon's surface. They, their spacecraft and lunar samples were detained inside the Lunar Receiving Laboratory in Houston for 21 days after the missions.

Voting Booth May Be True Melting Pot

By Editorial Research Reports

WASHINGTON -- Everyone knows that the United States is a nation of immigrants. But what most people don't realize is that a new wave of arrivals touched off by the Immigration and Naturalization Act of 1965 is giving many American cities a more cosmopolitan character than at any time since the turn of the century.

Filipinos, Portuguese, Greeks, Chinese, Indians, Africans -- these are among the ethnic groups reaching the United States at a greatly accelerated rate after being held back for 40 years by low quotas. Until the 1965 legislation, the immigration system had favored Northern European nations.

President Johnson considered the national origins quota system "incompatible with our basic American tradition." He said it implied "that men and women from some countries are, just because of where they come from, more desirable citizens than others." Instead of national quotas, however, legislative maneuvering forced the President to accept a compromise system of "hemispheric quotas."

By and large the new system has operated exactly as intended. So much so, in fact, that nationalities which previously enjoyed preference are crying for relief. Canadians trying to enter the United States as residents, for example, now face delays of up to 18 months or more in getting a visa. In fiscal 1965, 40,013 Canadians moved to the United States; in fiscal 1970, only 12,263 were issued visas.

Before the 1965 law was passed, some 5,000 to 7,000 Irish emigrated to America each year. But the American Irish National Immigration Committee estimated that fewer than 700 received U.S. visas in 1970. Naturally the committee supports modification of the preference system, as proposed in legislation introduced by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy (D Mass.).

The bill would make available additional visas in the categories traditionally used by applicants in Ireland, Germany, the Netherlands, and other Northern European nations. And Chairman Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) of the House Judiciary Committee introduced legislation on April 19 that would end the first -come, first - serve basis for Western Hemisphere visas and put all immigration on the basis of preference categories for relatives, skilled workers and refugees.

In the meantime, the pent-up demands of minority ethnic and racial groups for admission to the United States are being satisfied under the 1965 law. A total of 11,639 Chinese entered the United States last fiscal year, compared with the quota of 100 five years earlier. Up to 3,000 of the Chinese immigrants come to San Francisco, where they are reported to be overtaxing community resources.

More than 13,000 Portuguese were issued U.S. visas last fiscal year; five years earlier only 2,005 Portuguese were admitted. New Bedford, Mass., is said to have the largest Portuguese community in the country. And the 23,351 Filipinos admitted last year represented a sharp increase from the 3,130 five years earlier.

At present the country is receiving about 400,000 immigrants annually, plus thousands of others who slip over the borders illegally. Many of these immigrants compete with blacks and poor whites for low-paid jobs. Reducing immigration, especially in time of heavy unemployment, might be justified. But the politics of immigration are fueled by the attraction of cheap labor and ethnic votes. The 1970 election returns showed, on the other hand, that these votes are not to be had simply for the asking. Ethnics left their traditional Democratic moorings in large numbers in some states, but remained loyal to the party in several others. It may be that the voting booth is the real melting pot.

Cotton Carnival Opens Saturday

MEMPHIS—The Memphis Cotton Carnival—the largest week-long festival of its kind in the Mid-South—is less than three weeks away, and everywhere plans are being finalized to make the 1971 gala the biggest and best of any in its 37-year history.

The Carnival, which will officially open at dusk Saturday with a gigantic fireworks display over the Mississippi River, followed by gaily decorated barges floating upstream bearing the royalty of the mystical Kingdom of Cotton, is a culmination of effort from civic, government and individual sources.

During the week of parties, parades and pageantry, hundreds of thousands of visitors from across the United States are expected to flock to Memphis to view the round of extravaganzas.

Miss Dorothy Lucile May, 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John K. May, and Frank G. Barton, Jr., a well-known cottonman and owner of two farm implement dealerships, will reign over the festivities as Queen and King of Cotton. Queen Lucie is a sophomore student at Mary Baldwin College in Staunton, Va., where she is majoring in psychology. "I have no intention of being a 'shrink', or anything like that" she has said. "I just want to be able to understand people better." Her parents, who live at 2115 Kirby Road in the east section of Memphis, have long had an interest in cotton. The land where their home now is was once a thriving cotton field, having been bought by the young queen's great-great-grandfather in 1844. The family currently owns and operates Mount City Plantation in Marion, Ark.

King Frank, son of the third king of Carnival, F. G. Barton, who reigned in 1934, lives with his wife and three sons in the three-generation family home at 1530 Vance—heart of the original section of Memphis. His family's roots in Memphis run as deep as cotton's roots do in the fertile soil of the Mid-South. Mr. Barton owns and operates the F. G. Barton Cotton Co., a firm which was founded by his grandfather. He also is president of Barton Equipment Co., in Memphis and Tupelo, Miss., and Crittenden Implement Co. in West Memphis, Ark.

Both the monarchs have a full schedule during the week of Carnival. They will be visiting orphanages, schools, hospitals and other institutions on such a tight time schedule it would make most heads swim. "But that's what we were crowned for," King Frank explained. "We want to take the spirit of goodwill and fun to everyone."

During Carnival week, a jiving, pulsating Blues and Jazz Festival will be staged; the Memphis-Hernando Cotton Carnival Horse Show will gallop into town; and three big parades will saunter down Main Street to the thrill of young and old alike.

Every day, a giant midway, set up on the city parking lot at the foot of Riverside Deive, will offer it cotton candied fun to Carnival goers, and a sidewalk cafe and art exhibit, reminiscent of those found in Paris, France, will swing open its white picket fence on Court Street, adjacent to historic Court Square.

On Wednesday, May 12, the Maid of Cotton Fashion Show and Luncheon, featuring pretty 1971 Maid Patricia Perry of Danville, Virginia, will be held at the Holiday Inn Rivermont.

Other activities of the week include the Town and Plantation Tour to magnificent ante-bellum homes and gardens in Memphis and Holly Springs, Mississippi; a softball tournament staged at Halle Field; motorcycle races; an exhibition of world-famous cars, including the James Bond automobile used in several movies, each day at the Auditorium; the big three-part Junior Festival; and parties held each night around the city, hosted by each of the six different secret societies that make up the financial backbone of Carnival.

More than 65 outstanding bands from high schools and colleges across the nation will come to Memphis to take part in Carnival—parades, concerts and serenades. These youngsters will march to their own music in the Friday Children's Parade and the Grand Parade at 6:00 P.M. on May 15. Many will perform in Court Square during the week.

Hopalong Harry Hacked

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Hopalong Harry enjoyed horseback riding and rode tall in the saddle. One Sunday, however, he rode higher than usual. While trotting along a narrow roadway, Mrs. Smith came driving by and, frightened by the noise of her car, Harry's horse reared and bucked and sent poor hapless Harry flying into the air. Badly banged up in landing, Dragalong Harry sued Mrs. Smith for his injuries.

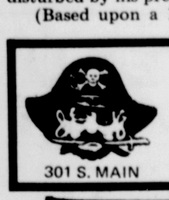

"The woman was an idiot," he complained in court. "Considering that the road was narrow, and knowing that horses get frightened by automobiles, she should have slowed down before passing us."

"I knew of no such thing," responded Mrs. Smith. "After all, this is a modern age. The era of the oatsmobile is past. Any horse that uses a highway today should be psychologically up to it."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make Mrs. Smith pay for psyching out Harry's Horse?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that it has been a long time since the advent of the automobile and horses, more or less, have become accustomed to their presence and noise. Therefore, concluded the judge in effect, a motorist is not required to slow down upon meeting or passing a horse on a highway unless he observes that the horse is frightened or disturbed by his presence.

Dismissal Effort on Two Teachers Dropped

CHARLESTON—The R-1 Board of Education has dropped action to terminate the tenure contracts of two teachers.

An attorney retained by the board to review the transcript of a dismissal hearing for Mrs. Easter Mae Hughes April 8, advised the board Thursday night that the school district case would not stand up on appeal to the courts.

The board voted 4-2 to retain Mrs. Hughes and to assign her to the A. D. Simpson school neat year. Board President Ralph Adkisson and Floyd Stallings voted to terminate the contract, with members Elott Rafferty, Mrs. Helen Currin, Norbert Rowling and Herbert Marshall voting not to terminate.

A motion to take no action on terminating the contract of Mrs. Winifred Fish carried unanimously. Mrs. Fish will be assigned to teach social studies at CHS next fall. She has been a mathematics teacher at the school for several years.

The board accepted the resignation of Jim Grimes, principal of the Warren E. Hearnes School, effective at the close of the present school year. Grims is accepting a job as an elementary principal in the Franics Howell R-III District, Route 2, St. Charles.

Barber Bound Over on Charge Of Murder

KENNETT — Dewey Wesley (Sonny) Ridings Jr., Senath barber, was bound over to circuit court to stand trial on a charge of first degree murder following a preliminary hearing Friday in Dunklin county magistrate court, at Kennett.

Magistrate Judge Leon McAnally ordered Ridings bound over after two witnesses appeared on the stand, one an eyewitness for the state.

Prosecuting Attorney Charles H. Baker introduced Gary Johns of Senath, who gave an eyewitness account of the shooting which claimed the life of Darrell Vaughn, 26, Senath, on April 8.

Defense Attorney Charles Cable introduced a witness for the defense, Ed Dowdy, who testified during the preliminary that he had heard the deceased make threats against the accused murdered on more than one occasion.

Ridings has been released from custody on a $20,000 bond, set earlier by the magistrate.

The Prayer from The Upper Room

Working together with him, then, we entreat you not to accept the grace of God in vain. (IICorinthians 6:1, RSV)

PRAYER: Father in heaven, You are the Master Builder whom we can trust and follow. We may not fully understand Your architectural plans, but let us not quit before we have tried the talents and strength You give us. Amen.

More Talent Entries Needed

DEXTER — More amateur talent entries are needed for the talent show which is planned for Strawberry Week in Dexter, Mrs. Helen Triplett, chairman, said this week.

Entries for the arts and crafts exhibit have been "outstanding", Mrs. Triplett said, but there still needs to be more entries in the amateur talent contest, she said.

Amateur musicains will compete for prizes "and glory'. during the show. There is no limit as to the number of entries, and no limitation as to where they are from, Mrs. Triplett said. The only restriction is that they be amateur musicians.

Individuals, duos, trios or combos may enter, she pointed out.

THIS GEOMETRIC COMPOSITION, taken from a farmland scene, was shot by Robert L. Stevens of St. Louis, an executive assistant in the art department of a bag company.

THE Picture: A Camera Bug's Dream Come True

A STRIKING CONTRAST was achieved by Anthony K. Wong, a cook from Charlotte, N.C., who used two artificial birds with lighting from a slide projector to produce this photograph.

People and Things . . . . . Moving

was the theme and 85 university design students were the participants in the sixth annual Student Design Program. Turning their attention to the nation's mounting traffic and housing crisis, the students came up with some innovative suggestions. The program, sponsored by Armco Steel Corp., each year gives design students a chance to exercise imaginations and talents on a specific theme.

HUGE MEGASTRUCTURES towering above a city's conventional skyline would be University of Cincinnati student Chuck Reder's way of avoiding urban sprawl. Model represents block houses, each for nearly 1,000 people, suspended between vertical towers which would contain schools, shops and other community facilities. Design, according to Reder, would avoid crowding and offer spectacular views and a sense of freedom.

ELEVATED RUNWAYS and underground terminals would economize on land use in the airport design of University of Bridgeport students.

CRYSTAL SPHERE vehicle tailored to shopping center needs was designed by Bob Bullock of Michigan State University's school of design. Almost total visibility would make it ideal for window shopping.

LAUGH and the world—or some of it, hopefully—laughs with you might be the personal motto of this elderly Vietnamese gentleman caught by a cameraman taking a respite from the battle fronts and with a sharp eye for character.

Macon County Gets Good Audit Report

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)--State Auditor Christopher "Kit" Bond gave a good report card to Macon County Thursday after an audit of its books from Jan 1, 1965 through 1970.

He noted there was insufficient collateral on county deposits and some minor overcharges in several county offices but said all records examined represented the financial condition of the county offices.

Risco

RISCO — Approximately 15 young people from Mt. Zion Baptist Church enjoyed an outing at Crowley's Ridge Resort Saturday evening. They were chaperoned by five married couples and their leaders, Mrs. Carolyn Dell and Mrs. Jean Craig. The group held a weiner roast and participated in various games.

A post-wedding reception honoring CW/2 and Mrs. Tommy Story was held at the home of hi parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Story Sunday afternoon from 2-4 p.m.

Mrs. Gaston Brown and Mrs. Alan Littell served the guests champagne, punch, cake, nuts and mints.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Brown of West Helena, Arkansas; Mr. and Mrs. Alan littell and sons, Gideon; Mr. and Mrs. William VanPelt, Jr., and sons, Cape Girardeau; Mrs. Sallye Littell, Malden; Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Kirksey, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kirksey and family, and Mrs. Judy Gregory and family.

The couple were guests of his parents for the weekend. Tommy is presently beginning a seven-week extensive course in Cobras at Savannah, Ga., after which Mrs. Story will join him.

Fourteen members of the Freshman Class of Risco R-2 schools enjoyed an outing Saturday which included tours of Alley Springs, Round Springs and Big Springs. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Bates, Mrs. P. C. Crouthers, Mrs. Roland Byrd, Mrs. Delmar McNeely, and bus driver, O. B. Albritton.

Mrs. Erma Cole was hostess to members of the Tallapossa Baptist W.M.S. Thursday evening at her home.

Mrs. Rayvon Knapp conducted the business session, after which Mrs. Hugh Landers presented the program, assisted by all members. During the social period the group enjoyed refreshments served by the hostess.

Others present were Mrs. Kenny Carlisle, Mrs. W. M. Fortner, and Mrs. Jim Byington.

The 1971 graduating seniors will leave Friday night, May 30 on their annual trip. The tour this year will include a tour of Six Flags over Texas and a trip to the Houston Astro Dome to view a ballgame. The group plans to return home Thursday, May 6th.

Members of the Second and Third Grades visited the Call of the Wild Museum near Neelyville Friday. They were accompanied by their teachers, Mrs. Avanell Conner, Mrs. Elaine McConnell, Mrs. Day, Mrs. Jim Todd, and Lee Joyce, bus driver. There were approximately 50 pupils in he group, to enjoy the tour and apicnic at Malden City Park at noon.

Mrs. Emily Applegate was hostess to the First Baptist W.M.U. Tuesday afternoon.

All members participated in the program conducted by Mrs. Y. M. Caffey, Jewish-Baptist Communication. Mrs. Caffey also conducted the Bible Study group, "The Sower, The Seed and The Soil," from Matthew 13. Mrs. T. H. Koonce led the prayer group, which made plans fpr a prayer retreat to be held in July. A nominating committee was named, consisting of Mrs. A. O. Blough, Mrs. Lowell Kirksey and Mrs. Delmar McNeely.

Others present were Mrs. Violet Applegate and Mrs. E. E. Baskin.

The First Baptist Church has scheduled its Daily Vacation Bible School for Monday through Friday, May 24-28. Classes will be from 1-4 p.m. daily, with instruction for preschoolers, three years old, through eighth grade students.

Mrs. Lena Stevens was honored on her birthday Tuesday by a surprise tea given by her neighbors. Attending were Mrs. Harry Perrigan, Mrs. A. H. McCollum, Mrs. Kate Lloyd and Margaret Miller.

The General Baptist Church will hold a ten-day Daily Vacation Bible School beginning Monday, May 17, continuing through Friday, May 28. Classes will be held for pre-schoolers through the youth, from 2-4:30 p.m. daily.

Community children interested in attending may contact Rev. Vernon Self, phone 396-5579, or Pat Landers, 396-5878 to enroll.

The Boy Sout Troop 77 of Parma conducted a Tenderfoot investiture ceremony Monday night, April 19th to recognize four new Scouts of the troop. Receiving Tenderfoot badges were Frank and Roy Cavazos, Harry Wayne Gremore and Jeffery Butler.

The troop committee chairman presided over the program and Scout Royce Bates led the group in the opening and the closing ceremonies, and was presented a Senior Patrol Leader badge. David Crouthers received the Scribe badge; Dale Hardin received Patrol Leader badge for the Flaming Arrow Patrol, and Darryl Ramsey received Assistant Patrol Leaders badge for that Patrol.

Summer camp plans were announced and the troop will be attending Camp Lewellen during the week of June 13-19.

Miss Ronda Sudbury, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Sudbury of Parma, became the bride of Jim Hollingshad, son of Mrs. Glendal Hollingshad, Cahokia, Ill., in a double-ring ceremony at 3 p.m. March 27 at the Jerome Lane Baptist Church of Cahokia.

Rev. Jay Lee Hollingshad, uncle of the groom, performed the ceremony before an altar flanked by baskets of blue and white glamellias accented by blue satin bows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of peau de soie. The brief bodice was overlaid with organza and appliques with Peau d'ange lace. It was fashioned on empire lines and feautred a rounded neckline and long, tapered sleeves ending in points over the wrist. The slim skirt was styled in princess lines and was accented in front with an organza overlay edged with scalloped peau d'ange lace which formed an inverted V-shape. Her luxurious cathedral illusion mantilla of organza was edged with scalloped peau d. ange lace and fell to floorlength. She carried a bouquet of white daisies, baby mums and glamellias tied with white streamers and centered by a red rose. White pumps completed the bridal attire.

Mrs. Sudbury wore for her daughter's wedding a pink and beige ensemble, completed with beige accessories and a corsage of pink tipped baby carnations.

Mrs. Hollingshad wore a two piece suit of blue with white accessories and a corsage of white baby carnations.

A reception was held at 401 Garden Street in Cahokia, the home of the groom's mother. A buffet lunch was served along with the two-tiered white bridal cake, punch, nuts and mints.

The bride is a 1970 graduate of Risco High School and the groom attended Clarkton High School. She is employed with A. J. Edwards and Sons, St. Louis and he is an employee of Chrsyler Corp., St. Louis. The couple is making their home at 234 McBridge in Dupo. Illinois.

Out of town guests for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Al Hartsfield and daughter, Malden; Miss Duane Foster, Shereveport, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cunninham, Jonesboro, Ark.; Miss Julie Melfield, DeSoto; Miss Debbie Darnstealdt, Jacob, Ill.; Mrs. Fern Nichols, Dixon; Mrs. LaVerne Ayres and Mrs. Bill Russell and daughter, all of St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Creason, Florissant and Mrs. Linda Nail, Edgemont, Ill.

Lag in Engineer Jobs Temporary

ROLLA — The current lag in the job market for engineers is temporary and will be followed by an upswing in the economy with an even greater demand for engineers, predicts Dean Stuart Johnson of the University of Missouri - Rolla School of Engineering.

The dean points out that the supply and demand for engineering talent is cyclical, just as in other fields. He also believes that news stories of the engineer who is out of a job or working in some other field may be misleading. "When this happens, it is news, because unemployment is so unusual for the engineer. At the present time, because of the condition of the economy, jobs are scarce in many fields. Except for a few hard- hit industries, such a aerospace, engineering still has a relatively good position," he says.

The National Register of Science and Technical Personnel reported recently that of 313,000 registered in 1970, the unemployment rate was only 1.6 per cent compared with a six per cent national employment figure. And for those reporting, the median salary was up 14 per cent from just two years previously.

Dean Johnson says that in times past the supposed oversupply of engineers has never lasted more than a short time and that drops in engineering enrollment during these periods have sometimes had disastrous results. "This happened after World War II, and the Korean War found us in short supply of engineers. After the Korean conflict, we were supposedly oversupplied, and later Sputnik found us lacking."

Dr. Edward E. David, Jr., science adviser to the president, made a similar point in a recent article in Chemical and Engineering News. "It does worry me that there is an attempt on the part of many people in the nation and the community to discourage careers in science and engineering ... It is not based on reality, because the opportunity for first rate engineering and science is going to be unexcelled in the next few decades ... I am optimistic about the upswing in science and technology.'.

The demands for mineral engineers -- ceramic, geological, metallurgical, mining and petroleum -- have increased, says Dean T. J. Planje of the School of Mines and Metallurgy. These demands are expected to move to unprecedented levels as Congress initiates legislation to resolve the national crisis in meeting the immediate and long - range energy and mineral needs to sustain the economy and security.

In any case, says Larry Nuss, UMR placement director, Rolla graduates are in better condition than most. Last June at graduation time, 92 per cent of the braduates had already accepted jobs. Nationwide the figure was about 75 per cent. In January, most of the mid-year graduates received employment shortly after graduation. For one specific group, electrical engineering, only three of 63 had not yet been employed in a survey made soon after commencement. Relatively few alumni have requested help in getting different jobs, he says.

However, Nuss says, the day of 10 to 15 offers per graduate is gone, albeit probably temporarily. Nationally job offers are down about 66 per cent at the bachelors level, and they are down about 50 per cent at Rolla. However, he adds, "that simply means that each graduate is not receiving so many offers as previously. Most graduates are still receiving offers, and many from several different companies."

He sees signs that the upturn in demand may already have started. "About 10 per cent of the companies interviewing at Rolla this year are looking for more graduates than they hired last year, and already about 15 per cent more companies than at this time last year have requested future interviews," he says.

Dr. Johnson points out that traditionally after a recession, it is technological advances that bring about the upswing in the economy, and the engineer and scientist are the first to benefit. He believes that consumer demands will keep a steady demand for technological progress -- an engineers. "We aren't going to junk our electric refrigerators and go back to the old ice box," he points out, "nor are we going to give up other advances."

No matter what the fluctuations of the economy bring, because of his versatility, the engineer is in a favored position to ride out the uncertainties, the dean observes. Since all engineers use basic principles of science and are accustomed to continuing education to keep abreast of the newest in their fields, it is relatively easy for the engineer to re - educate himself for a new specialty if necessary, he says.

Cormier Gets to Keep White House Chair He Broke

WASHINGTON (AP) -- Six-foot -four Frank Cormier, White House correspondent for The Associated Press, has a White House chair as a keepsake.

He got it by breaking it.

Leaning back in the gilded chair at President Nixon's news conference Thursday night, Cormier heard a disturbing crack.

He kept things virtually unnoticed until he delivered his customary, "Thank you, Mr. President" ending the televised and broadcast session.

When Cormier got around to inspecting the chair he found that the runged back had broken off.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler later informed Cormier that the President was presenting the chair to him as a gift.

Wetterau Honors Prather

SCOTT CITY — Ferlyn Prather, vice president and general manager of the Scott City, Mo., division of Wetterau Foods, Inc., was honored at a retirement dinner April 26 at the Holiday Inn, Cape Girardeau, in recognition of more than 45 years of service to the company.

Among the nearly 100 company guests who paid tribute to Prather's long and successful career were Oliver G. Wetterau, chairman of the board; Ted. C. Wetterau, president; William O. Buhrum, a Wetterau director; and William R. Miller, who will succeed Prather as general manager on May 1, 1971.

Miller, who was master of ceremonies, presented the retiree with a 45-year-old ledger used in Prather's first job as a bookkeeper with the company. Also on hand at the head table was his wife, Daphne. The Prathers reside in Cape Girardeau, but will move to a new home near Flat River, Mo., as soon as it is completed.

A native of Desloge, Prather was employed by the then year-old Wetterau Grocer Company warehouse as a one-man office staff in 1926. William O. Buhrman, Prather recalled, termed him a "smart young man with a lot to learn."

Prather has headed the Deslodge-Scott City division since 1934. He was elected a vice president in 1956 and a director in 1961.

Wetterau Foods, Inc., distributes food and non-food products to 450 IGA supermarkets in seven Midwestern states and New England, as well as 75 Red & White and 200 other independent retailers in the Southeast.

To the Editor:

I am wondering how many people have had to go to the emergency room at the Missouri Delta community Hospital and got the same treatment as we did the other night. My father, who is 68, took sick about 5:3 0 Saturday evening, with a upset stomach. About 11:00 his temperature went up, he began to ramble on and talk incoherence and his coloring began to turn dark. We decided he needed medical treatment. We called McMikle's ambulance and arrived at the hospital at 12:30. Our family Doctor, Dr. Critchlow, was out of town for the week - end, but that Dr. Sargent was covering for him, plus he was the house Doctor for the night. The nurse called Dr. Sargent and described my father's symptom to him over the phone. He prescribed two pills for him to take right away. At about 12:45 another patient arrived, a young woman from of town who was beginning to mis-carry. Of course she had to rely on the Doctor who was on on call for the night. That would be Dr. John Sargent.

We waited for awhile — no Doctor. The nurse calls him again. Another 30 minutes passes, still no Doctor. The nurse calls him again. She reports he's leaving for the hospital. We still wait and no Doctor. Meanwhile the woman across the hall is also waiting on the Doctor. After waiting for about two hours her parents call the Administrator. About 3:00 in the morning I think, the administrator called the Doctor at home. Finally at 3:15, after waiting almost 3 hours the Doctor arrives and looks at my father. I tried to ask him a few questions about his condition. He said he had the flu. I asked the Doctor if the flu would cause his skin to turn bluish black? His answer was "Well, get the flu yourself and see what happens" or words to the affect. I remarked that I wasn't trying to get smart with him, I only wanted to find out about my father's condition. His answer was — if you're not satisfied there's alot of Doctors names and numbers, that I could call for another Doctor to come and examine him."

He wrote out two prescriptions and gave him four pills and said we could take him home. McMikle's ambulance and driver had stayed at the hospital and waited for us for those three hours. We took my father back home and he proceeded to get worse. At 8:00 o'clock Sunday morning we knew we had to get him medical help, but had no desire to take him back to Sikeston, so we took him to Chaffee Hospital. When we arrived there the Doctor checked him over and was quite concerned with his discoloration. He admitted him to the hospital for tests and medical care because as he said "There was more wrong with him than the flu."

After discussing the situation with friends and neighbors we find that this same thing has happened before at the Sikeston hospital. If my father had had a heart attack, he could have died in those three hours, then who would have been responsible? I thought the hospital and doctors were here to help the sick, day or night. If the Doctor doesn't want to take calls in the middle of the night he shouldn't have become a doctor. He took an oath and he also knew what it would be like to be a Doctor, or could it be he's just interested in the money side of it.

I'd like to add that the nurses were just as nice as they could be and they did all they could but their hands were tied. They couldn't do much until the Doctor had seen my father.

The administration of the hospital had better wake up before they have a law suit brought against them.

Sincerely yours,
Raymond E. Smith

Dear Charlie,

Since your "Letter to the Editor" column is about the only means of expressing a view on public affairs I would appreciate very much your printing this letter.

The Subject of criticism is a farce held Sunday, April 25th, commonly known as "Little League Tryouts". Along with many other hopeful parents, I took my son and two neighbor boys to the Field House where they were Duly registered and lined up to "Try Out". Each boy was given a chance to catch Two grounders and two fly balls, while the coaches of the teams were purportedly evaluating their skills at catching and throwing.

Now comes the question. How do you explain to a 9 year old that even though he caught 3 out of 4 he didn't make a team while at the same time some of his friends missed 3 out of 4 and were chosen? As an adult I understand the Cliques and Social systems that are inherent in a community like Sikeston, but how do you explain this to a nine year old who has always been taught that honesty and fair play are virtues, and that prizes and goals are achieved through hard work and competiton NOT through favoritism.

Most of the little league officials if they bother to read this far, will shrug off my comments as "just another irate parent" or "sour grapes". They may be right. Perhaps in the shadow of disappointment I'm not looking at things clearly. But I suspect many boys are asking the same question my son is "...If I did better in the Tryouts than they, why didn't I make it?

I suggest that next year we eliminate all pretense at "Tryouts", just get a list of available 9 year olds from the schools and let the coaches take it from there.

This is also, in a way, an indictment of the City of Sikeston. This progressive city, so proud of its Industries, Schools, Churches and Community Activities will have more than 100 Boys, ages 9 thru 12 who will be unable to get into an organized summer recreation program .. WHY?

If other parents are concerned with these problems, I hope they will take the time to write a letter or note to this column and express their views also.

Sincerely,
Duane Williams

Goodwill Week Being Observed

ST. LOUIS — Observance of National Goodwill Week this week is part of a nationwide event sponsored by Goodwill Industries in 145 cities in the United States. The theme for 1971 is -- "The Goodwill Way For The U.S.A."

The Goodwill program provides vocational rehabilitation services and sheltered employment to the thousands of handicapped people annually throughout the country.

Each Goodwill Industries is an autonomous, non - profit, and community - directed agency organized locally. All Goodwills work together, through membership in a national organization called Goodwill Industries of America, Inc., headquartered in Washington, D.C.

The 145 Goodwills in the United States comprise the largest network of vocational rehabilitation workshops serving all types of handicapped people in the nation. Generally known as sheltered workshops, they provide about half of all services provided by all sheltered workshops in the U.S.

The Goodwill program seeks to test, counsel, train, employ and place people with all varieties of mental and physical handicaps. The major part of its operation is a work program through which handicapped people can learn skills, receive work conditioning or find steady employment if they cannot get jobs in normal business and industry.

Goodwill Industries operates in a manner that gives the handicapped a chance to help themselves. Wages paid to the disabled keep many of them on the payroll and off welfare rolls, allowing them to become tax payers instead of tax burdens.

Youth Hit By Car

POPLAR BLUFF — Bobby Joe Pernell, 18, route one, Broseley, is in serious condition at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, from injuries sustained when he was struck by a car at 8:10 p.m. last night.

Bank Robbers Change Plea To Guilty

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo.(AP)–Two of three St. Louis area men charged in the holdup of the bank of Marquand, Mo., changed their pleas from innocent to guilty Monday in U.S. District Court.

Guilty pleas were entered by Charles L. Turnbough, 43, and James R. McConnell, 26, of St. Louis.

The third man charged in the case, Donald Filkens, 36, of Hazelwood, changed his plea from innocent to guilty last Thursday.

Judge John K. Regan ordered a presentence investigation and said he would sentence Turnbough and McConnell May 24. Filkens will be sentenced June 4.

Three men took more than $15,000 from the southeast Missouri bank on Feb. 23. Turnbough, McConnell and Filkens were arrested about one hour after the robbery by Missouri Highway Patrol and sheriff's officers.

Authorities said $12,901 was recovered.

Six Treated

Six were treated Monday at Missouri Delta Community hospital for injuries:

Norman Cruse, Essex, injured left index finger; Theda Farrell, Charleston, injured right foot; Rita Wood, injured right side of face; Donald Cope, injured right thumb; Eric Small III, Wyatt, injured left elbow; Brian Wofford, East Prairie, injured nose.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Kosygin-Muskie Talks Reported, Despite Embassy Promise; Premier Fumes, Likening Israelis To American Gangsters; Angrily Delcares Israel Must Pull Out of Occupied Area

Fees, Newspaper Draw Fire at Morehouse

Charlie Neal At Odds Again

By CHARLES BRADY

MOREHOUSE— Mayor Marlin "Mo" Swinger last night advised merchants and citizens, who jammed into the town board meeting room, to air their complaints about the new business license ordinance. He said, "the board will take the ordinance under consideration and may revise it".

The ordinance, establishing license fees for 124 businesses, was passed April 21 by the board and has created a furor among merchants, who charge that the fees are too high.

Former Morehouse Mayor Charlie Neal did most of the talking saying that "some of the rates, such as for pool tables, were left the same and others were raised six to seven times as much, including the bank fee".

He has long been at odds with the council.

Neal also charged that there are conflicting provisions in the ordinance, that it was not written properly, and that there are too many licenses included which would make the ordinance impossible to enforce.

Neal commented:

"My remedy would be to raise all business licenses a small amount and to cut out some of the business fees the city doesn't have."

He explained there were 30 businesses included in the ordinance which Morehouse does not have.

Gene Hendon, a Morehouse banker, said "the merchants tax should be changed but not as much as they are." He said that $50 a year to operate a bank is fair but $75 is too much.

The bank license fee formerly was $12.50.

Hendon added:

"Everyone here wants to see the city profit but we don't want to have to all pay through the nose all at once."

Alderman John Eaker charged that Neal had proposed a business license when he was mayor and that some of the fees were higher than the present ordinance.

"I never prosposed any ordinance," Neal claimed, but later changed his story when Eaker produced some handwritten notes of Neal's on the ordinance.

Merchant license fees weren't alone in taking verbal abuse, at the meeting. A news story about the fees came under fire.

Mayor Swinger said:

"Speaking as a citizen and not in the capacity of mayor, I will say the publicity this town has received concerning this ordinance is not good for the town and makes us look foolish."

He said it "doesn't help the city at all to have an article given to the Sikeston Daily Standard by Charlie Neal appear in the paper."

Neal remarked:

"There sits the man who got the story—referring to the area editor Charles Brady—it wasn't me".

"Mr. Neal, you were the one who called the Sikeston Standard about getting a story on this ordinance," Brady said. Neal challenged Brady to deny Neal's statement and when Brady did, Neal replied three times "I'll be waiting for you outside, fella".

Mayor Swinger cautioned each time "that's enough, Charlie".

Brady told the board:

"Charlie Neal called the Standard about the ordinance and I was sent to Morehouse by my boss to get a story on it. I was here that afternoon (April 22) talking to Jack Taylor, city collector, and looking at the ordinance, when Neal came in. I then asked Neal some questions."

When Neal called the newspaper requesting the newspaper to investigate the ordinance, he said he had been requested by merchants and others to "get some hell raised" about the new ordinance. He gave this as his reason for calling the newspaper.

In other business, the board listened to complaints about dogs running in packs inside the city limits.

Mayor Swinger said:

"We have an ordinance regulating dogs in the city but it's never been enforced. We tried but it's too damn expensive."

Sonny Moser asked to board to reconsider the ordinance which prevents keeping horses in the city limits.

Alderman John Eaker said "Sonny's the only one I know in town that keeps his horses clean but a whole bunch of others don't".

The board voted not to change the ordinance.

The board elected Taylor as city clerk replacing Elizabeth Rogers. The city clerk is elected each May.

This action drew fire from Mrs. Rogers who said "they (the town board) never did appoint a city clerk in May before".

She commented:

"It's a well known fact. The board claims they have an ordinance on the appointment of a city clerk but they don't. I knew my days were numbered when they named (Mayor) Swinger in office. I really didn't expect to last this long. Quitman Dill (an alderman) was just as surprised as I was when they brought this up. That's why he didn't vote."

Aldermen John Eaker and Woodrow Bolin voted in favor of Taylor for city clerk. Alderman Estle Rogers, husband of Elizabeth Rogers, voted against Taylor's appointment. Quitman Dill abstained.

She said:

"We have good people in Morehouse but they don't have anyone good to represent them. Jack Taylor really runs the city."

Two woman complained to the board about junk piling up in their yards.

The financial statement, disbursement report, and collector's report were approved.

Senate Okays Higher Tax

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — A bill to extend present income tax rates on a permanent basis passed the Missouri Senate easily Monday on a 26-6 vote.

The bill now goes back to the House for action on a Senate change and Speaker James E. Godfrey, D-St. Louis, said action would be expedited—perhaps today or Wednesday.

Rep. Harold Volkmer, D-Hannibal, was satisfied with the Senate change cutting out a provision for a dividend exclusion and eliminating the present dividend credit. He said that put the bill back in its original form as he wanted it.

Eliminating the dividend provision would add a maximum of $5 million a year to state revenues, Sen. Maurice Schechter, D-Creve Coeur, said.

He cited Revenue Department estimates that the bill would raise $92 million additional in collections next year.

The present rates are 1½ to 6 per cent on individual income taxes and a top of 5 per cent on corporations. They expire at the end of 1971 unless extended.

The Senate beat down two efforts by Sen. William B. Waters, D-Liberty, to limit the extension through 1972 or 1973. He argued the legislature does not yet know what Congress intends to do about revenue sharing with states or taking over state welfare costs which run about $120 million a year.

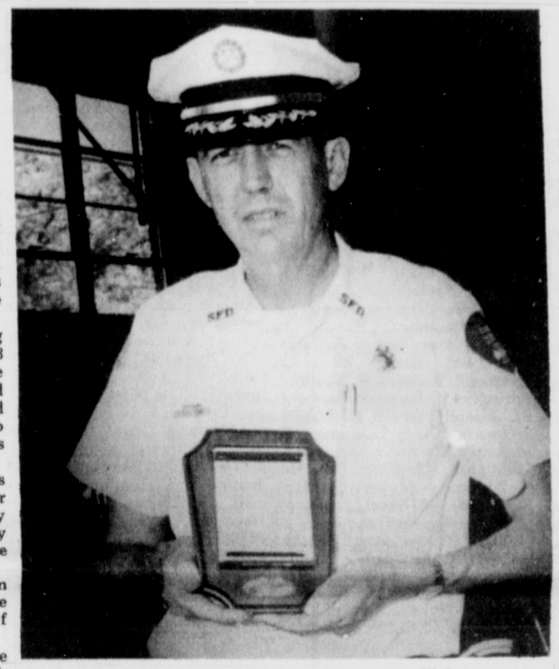

The one-year extension was voted down 10-22 and the twoyear plan 14-19.

Waters said extending present rates through 1973 would remove the tax issue from the 1972 campaign and would give a new governor and a new legislature a chance to re-examine state revenue needs in 1973.

Opponents said it was ridiculous to keep fighting over the state's fiscal crisis every year. They argued successfully that the present rates should be made permanent.

The legislature has been embroiled in the long income tax struggle since the start of the 1969 session.

When rates finally were raised to their present level, along with provisions to simplify returns and save money for lower income people, Sen. Earl R. Blackwell started a referendum campaign to take the question to the voters.

AN AWARD to the Sikeston fire department was accepted by Chief Dolph Webb for saving the life of Grover Kelley in a house fire May 11,1970. The presentation was made by the Missouri Firefighters Association.

Protest Falls Apart

WASHINGTON (AP) — Antiwar protester's hopes of rekindling guerrilla-style efforts to halt the nation's government disintegrated today and the Pentagon began withdrawing 4,000 federal troops from the streets and bridges of the capital.

Wholesale arrests of more than 7,000 persons Monday appeared to have broken the back of the planned three days of disruptions.

As the Marines, paratroopers and other federal troops began withdrawing from the capital, police reported another 200 arrests had been made today as demoralized bands of young people wandered the streets, apparently leaderless and without design.

At a White House breakfast with Republican congressional leaders, President Nixon praised police, District of Columbia officials and the attorney general "for the way they handled demonstrators and the restraint exhibited," said Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania.

The federal troops, who had moved into the city at the height of Monday's disorders, were pulled back to staging positions in the suburbs. But there was no move to return to their bases the 10,000 troops who had been mobilized during the weekend.

The disengagement of troops still left thousands of police to watch warily over the city.

Rush-hour traffic—lighter than usual—moved smoothly.

Protest organizers, who had promised to send 10,000 persons into the streets today, talked of a midday march on the Justice Department.

Charges of disorderly conduct, obstructing traffic, loitering or unlawful assembly were lodged against most of those arrested today—although several older, well-dressed, wellgroomed pedestrians were arrested for jaywalking and hauled off in police paddywagons.

Police vehicles did more to cause brief traffic jams than did the demonstrators.

Said one long-haired youth: "Everthing has broken down today ... some people are out of it."

Said another: "I'm too tired."

As the rush hour began, traffic flowed smoothly across the four Potomac River bridges which were the target of Monday's disruption. Street cleaning machines crisscrossed the bridges an hour before dawn to clear away a scattering of nails and tacks.

The demonstrators conceded police and military forces had prevailed a day earlier, when the largest groups tried to block the four major bridges into Virginia without lasting success. Marine and Army troops resumed their patrols of the bridges early this morning. The soldiers were spread no more than 20 feet apart on each span.

The disruptions Monday ranged from peaceful sitdowns at busy intersections to sheer vandalism. Hundreds of trash bins, bricks, bottles, and other debris were thrown into the streets. Many cars were abandoned at intersections, some set afire. Fuel lines were snipped on buses, and several motorists, including Sen. Paul Fannin, R-Ariz., had their tires slashed.

There were several incidents of protesters exchanging blows with police, although reports of serious injuries were scant. About 100 persons were treated at area hospitals.

Among those arrested Monday was Rennie Davis, one of the "Chiago Seven" and a coordinator of the demonstrations. He was charged with conspiring to violate civil rights. Earlier, Davis admitted that "in no way did we outmaneuver the police," but he declared the activities had fostered "the development of a people's organization."

Bond for Davis was set at $25,000, and he was still imprisoned early today.

Police originally insisted that none of those arrested be freed without appearing before one of eight municipal judges for arraignment, a process that could have taken days.

But late Monday, Chief Jerry Wilson ordered that the protesters charged with lesser offenses be released on $10 collateral, and several hujdred had returned to the streets by this morning.

As the jails filled Monday, some 2,000 arrestees were taken to outdoor compounds before police arranged to rent the Washington Coliseum, an indoor facility.

Many of the arrests had been made without officers bothering with the usual practice of filling out field reports and taking pictures, and considerable confusion was evident at the Coliseum later as police clerks began the processing.

One judge, at the behest of defense attorneys for the Coliseum prisoners, ordered Wilson to appear tonight and show cause why they should not be released.

Although most commuter traffic was delayed by no more than 30 or 45 minutes Monday, many federal employes foiled the demonstrators entirely by showing up hours early for work.

The White House, largely ignored Monday by the demonstrators, was serene as Mrs. Richard Nixon was having a luncheon for congressional wives. The President returned in the evening from San Clemente, Calif., offering no comment on the protests.

At the Capitol, several senators said the actions of the militants were counterproductive to their goal of ending U.S. involvement in South Vietnam.

Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., a Vietnam dove, said he supports the use of whatever force is necessary to keep the streets open, and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., declared "the cause of peace is being damaged by violence in the name of ending the war."

Orton Barred

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) -- The Missouri Supreme Court today barred ousted Sheriff Clyde Orton of Pemiscot County from running for the office during the rest of his term ending next year.

The formal order made permanent a writ of prohibition directing County Clerk John M. Alford not to put Orton's name on the ballot at a special election May 11 and not to count any votes for him.

Orton's wife already has filed for the right to fill out the rest of Orton's term, along with several deputies and former deputies. The acting sheriff is Thad Shelly.

The court said an opinion on today's ruling would follow later.

Orton was ousted on charges brought by Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth that he had failed to enforce liquor and gambling laws. Orton's attorney said he would appeal that ruling to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Homeowners Ask Sewer Extension

By H. H. TOWNSEND JR.

NEW MADRID— The city council last night hear requests of citizens for sewer extension and received reports on power plant construction and a bond issue.

Approved were construction bills totalling $583,239.19 for power plant construction in St. Jude Industrial Park.

Babcock and Wilcox and Comstock-Roper Electric Company were named prime contractors for piping and electrical work at the power plant site. Both firms have been contractors on the job.

James Yeley was appointed assistant purchasing agent for the city replacing John Aiello to buy materials for construction at the power plant.

Representing citizens from Angora Heights, subdivision requesting sewer extension was Harry Bock. He was told that a bonding firm had been contacted concerning a bond issue for the extension but no commitment had been received for the bonds.

The citizens group will appear at the next council meeting.

Baseball Commissioner Hot Phillips discussed federal assistance to buy recreational equipment for the city parks and playgrounds through the Southeast Missouri Law Enforcement Council in Malden, which has access for such funds for combating juvenile delinquency.

Phillips was authorized to work with City Administrator Russell Ellis to draw up a plan to be submitted to the council.

The council authorized the erection of two additional poles and lights on the Little League ball diamond as requested by Phillips.

A request by Arthur Shy to waive interest on a street paving bill on Mitchell Street was denied.

Mayor Robert Riley was authorized by the council to sign an agreement with the St. Louis Southwestern Railway Company for construction of additional track into the industrial park.

City Attorney Hal E. Hunter told the council that a letter had been received from the Internal Revenue Service exempting interest on the $60,000,000 bond issue voted by the city March 2 for completion of the power plant.

He commented that "this clears the way for the sale of the bonds".

Grenade Handled Like Hot Potato

Police were called to 410 North Street this morning when Arnold Crowden reported he found a "live" hand grenade.

Crowden said that he tore down an old shed on his property and in cleaning the debris discovered the grenade. The pin was in the explosive, but the handle apparently had rusted off.

Sgt. Leonard Campbell said the grenade was taken to the country where it will be stored until police decide how to dispose of it.

Campbell said it might be thrown into the Mississippi river.

Three Take Council Posts At Dexter

By BRENDA MacDONALD

DEXTER— Eldon Cooper, James Williams, and Lehman Godwin were sworn in as city councilmen by City Clerk George McCracken last night.

An ordinance was passed by the council to blacktop city streets which need repair.

D. I. Webb, a vending machine operator, asked the council to consider removing the city tax from pin ball machines and juke boxes.

Mayor Willis Conner appointed a committee to check taxes and determine what taxes need to be updated.

Judge Dismisses Seven Court Cases

Magistrate Judge Lloyd Briggs heard 19 cases in court today. Five were for writing checks with insufficient funds, one armed robbery and one for displaying a deadly weapon. These cases were dismissed on payment of costs.

Assistant Proscutor John Wilson represented the state.

Curtis Joe Burnett, James Robinson, Harold E. Butler, and Welter E. Bowden, were charged with breaking in a store at 865 West Malone. The case was dismissed and costs certified.

Harold E. Butler, 110 Petty was charged with careless and reckless driving. The case was dismissed because he is serving a term in the state penitentiary on an armed robbery charge.

A 30-day jail sentence was stayed against Iris J. Leek, Morehouse, after she pleaded guilty to a charge of issuing a worthless check. Other cases dismissed after costs were paid on worthless check charges were Cornell Cassell, Charleston; D. Edwards, Bloomfield; Mrs. James Ward, 526 East Kathleen, and Ted Echols, 103 Westgate. A complaint was issued against David E. Ferguson, 133 North Ranney, on an insufficient funds check charge. The case of Carl Adams of 243 Thrush on the same charge was continued to next Tuesday.

Ellis R. Walker, route two, pleaded guilty to illegal car registration, and was fined $15.

Erwin Davis, 314 Adams, charges with assault on Wilma Davis, received a one-year stayed sentence on payment of costs.

Mary Kathryn Newell, Gray Ridge, pleaded guilty to having no car operator's license, but case was dismissed on payment of costs.

The bond of John Henry Barnes, 319 Ash, charged withdriving while intoxicated, was forfeited when he failed to appear in court.

Lanny Wade Satterfield, 112 Third St., charged with illegal use of car license, pleaded guilty and was fined $15.

Bennie Wade Satterfield, 112 Third St., charged with illegal use of car license plates, was fined $15.

Portageville Mayor Takes Oath

PORTAGEVILLE— Roy Moore was sworn in as mayor at last night's town board meeting and Lewis Hoxworth and Don Rone Jr. as aldermen.

Leroy Widner was appointed chairman of the board to preside in the mayor's absence.

Appointed to the finance committee were Leroy Widner, chairman, and Ernest Moylan. Street and water committee members appointed were Leroy Widner, chairman, and Don Rone Jr.

Park commission members and fire department members appointed were Ernest Moylan, chairman, and Lewis Hoxworth.

Council Okays Park Equipment

The city council last night agreed to pay 25 per cent of the cost of new recreational equipment for West End Park.

The remaining cost will be paid by federal funds furnished by the Law Enforcement Assistance Council.

The project to provide the equipment is sponsored by the police department, sheriff's department, Sunset Block Club, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and other organizations.

Sponsors of the project said the recreational equipment would "provide the beginning" for activities at the park and would help to curb a rising crime rate in the area.

Total cost for the project is $393.

The city's cost for the equipment is $98. Equipment to be purchased includes softballs, basketballs, footballs, volleyballs, and arts and crafts equipment.

City Manager Raymert Miller called the project worthwhile and said the city's cost was a "tremendous bargain."

The council accepted the only bid submitted for the construction of an underground gasoline storage tank and gasoline pump. The tank and pump will be used for the city's vehicles.

The bid accepted was from Mid-South Steel Products of Cape Girardeau for $2,161.90. The pump and the 10,000-gallon storage tank will be by the street department on North Street.

Bids were accepted on the removal of two houses at the rear of the old post office. When completed the lots will be used for parking spaces for the new city administrative offices and police department.

The bid accepted was from Odis Hill of Sikeston, who agreed to pay the city $900 for the two homes. Hill said he would remove them himself and relocate them.

A small house at 515 Hart St. was declared condemned last night and ordered destroyed or removed. The house is owned by Billy R. Long.

The council passed three ordinances calling for the paving of Petty Street from Compress Road to Maude; Alabama St. from Washington to Compress Road; and Washington from Westgate to Alabama.

Dwight Crader and George T. Johnson were reappointed to the boad of adjustments for three year terms. Crader is chairman of the board.

Four-Lane Growth In Highway Plan

Four lane development on highway 60 to beyond Van Buren and on highway 67 north of Poplar Bluff are included in a 12-year intercity- interegional $1.4 billion highway program proposed by the Missouri highway commission.

W. H. Shaw, chief engineer of district 10 of the state highway department, said last night that the program would be financed by increases in car and truck fees, a two-cent increase in the gasoline tax and a bond issue of not more than $475 million. He spoke to the Rotary club at the Rustic Rock Inn.

Four-lane highways would be built south of Rolla under the program but a choice would depend on traffic volume. He predicted that it might be on highways leading to the new Caruthersville bridge across the Mississippi river, which, he said, is expected to increase traffic.

He said that the improvements would cost less if the work was begun at once and interest was paid on the bonds than on a deferred basis because of rising costs through inflation.

Missourians would be required to vote approval of the bond issue if the legislature adopts the highway department's program. Six major bridges would be built under it.

Shaw was introduced by Alex Waters. Debbie Launius played the piano.

Bernie to Buy Radios

BERNIE— Mayor R. B. Woods told the board that the city has received a $1,119 grant from the Bootheel Law Enforcement Council, Malden, to purchase two radios.

The board authorized Water Superintendent Harold Stevens to take a course in water management in Neosho.

The board approved the laying of a water line in Bowman addition.

Hearing Set In Shooting

NEW MADRID— Preliminary hearing on a homocide charge against Walter DeWitt Burns, 19, route one, Parma, has been set for 9 a.m. Thursday in Magistrate court. Magistrate Judge Leo Hedgepeth set $5,000 bond for Burns and appointed Charles Spitler defense attorney.

Eye Lost in Gun Injury

Humphries underwent surgery for three hours.

He is being treated for wounds sustained Sunday at 11:30 p.m. from a .22 caliber rifle gunshot wound, which officers said was accidental and self inflicted.

He is employed for A and B Construction Company in Perryville.

BEWARE OF REPORTING ON CHINA

Some of the media have done a complete flip on Red China after the U.S. ping-pong players were let in. Time magazine heralded the event as a "Whole New Game," while Newsweek headlined it: "A New Game Begins." Meanwhile, back at the ranch in Washington, diplomats are doing their best to avoid any reference to "Red China." They now insist on using the official Communist terminology: "The People's Republic of China," despite the fact that the People's Daily in Peking is keeping up its vicious headline attacks on the U.S.A.

Some of the worst reporting was done, not by the ping-pong players, but by Life magazine's Hong Kong Bureau Chief, John Saar. Some of the best reporting was done by the New York Times' correspondent, Tillman Durdin.For neophytes, some of the table-tennis squad did quite well in sizing up the situation.

Reported Life's Bureau Chief: "The Chinese are obviously healthy ... They seemed very content within themselves, content with their lot and sure of themselves, knowing where they are going." He went on to say that there is "absolutely no misery, no hunger" in Communist China.

The Gallup Poll had better fold up, when Life magazine has a man who can come to such detailed conclusions without the need to take any polls or talk to anyone but government stooges. He learned so much about 24 per cent of the earth's population in just a few days! Gallup had better quit.

Contrast the sweeping testimony of Life's Hong Kong Bureau Chief with that of 17-year old Olga Soltesz, a ping-pong player from Orlando, Florida: "It is very primitive ... Even a big city like Peking wasn't anything like Orlando ... There were no cars, only a few buses, and everybody rode bicycles."

Tillman Durdin, the New York Times reporter, visited a nursery in Shanghai and reported that the 5-year olds were singing: "We unite and struggle in Asia, Africa and Latin America; people join to defeat the U.S. aggressors and their running dogs." The children stay in the nursery all day while their parents work. Many stay there all the time, he reported, except for a visit home on weekends.

At one point in the discussions with Red China's Chou-En-lai, the Premier asked the table-tennis team: "Now criticize our country." But no one would. There was not one American to ask why Chou's government had never freed the 345 American POW 's after the Korean War, or whether any of them are still alive. There was no one willing to ask about the Four Freedoms and when Chou and his regime would finally start extending them to the 750 million Chinese people. All our table-tennis players saw was the smile on the face of the tiger.

THE ENEMY SMILES

After all the millions of insults Red China has hurled at us, after all the Americans she killed in Korea and helped kill in Vietnam, after all the guerrilla warfare, bombing and terrorism Peking has promoted against us even in our own country, are we now supposed to forgive and forget just because the mighty Mao has let his teams play us in ping pong? It is as though we had cancelled the Inchon landing because Kim Il Sung of North Korea has invited us to play a game of chess.

Before we get carried away, we should remind ourselves that socialism is nothing more than seizing power in the name of the "peepul." On mainland China the socialists (Communists) seized all the wealth, both personal and corporate. What were the results? The economic resources of the country were soon exhausted. The bungling policies of the bureautcrats destroyed the confidence of the people in their government. The economy grew stagnant, and the leadership grew old and tired. The small agricultural output and the tiny gross national product that resulted were the logical consequences of bureaucratic statism. Socialism never fails to produce such results.

What has to be done on mainland China, before any progress can be made, is to provide incentives for the people to work. Initiative has to be restored. Hope has to be renewed. The four freedoms have to be brought back; freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom from want, and freedom from fear. This can only be done by returning to a system of free enterprise. But Communism will have to start. They have no intention of giving up their stranglehold on the political, business, and personal lives of their subjects. Socialism is nothing but a total power grab. It is the enemy of democracy.

THE TAX UPROAR

Many of our states, operating under the authority of old and almost forgotten statutes, have attempted to meet demands for still more money from school boards and other subordinante taxing districts, by increasing the assessed valuation of real property. In many of the states and counties, computers were used to adjust assessed valuations to "current market values," that is to values in terms of the current worth of the dollar.

The impact of the unexpected and hefty tax increase on literally millions of households brought a reaction that was not expected by public officials involved. Heads of households operating on forever tight budgets, were completely unprepared for the real property tax increases ranging from as low as 30 per cent to as high as 200 per cent. Taxpayers and rent payers have reacted by forming a multiple number of tax protest associations and by descending in swarms on the legislative bodies, on school boards, and all other taxing districts to demand that government spending be brought under control.

Elderly homeowners were and are particularly dismayed by the property tax boost. Living on fixed incomes and lacking the stamina to fight back, they face the certainty of the loss of their homes and the ultimate trip to our present day concept of the poor house. They all know, and we all know, that older dwellings have not really increased in value. The new assessed values are a fiction which measure not the increased value of the older building, but the debased value of the dollar. They all know, as we know, that the rug is being pulled out from under them. In short, the elderly homeowners have had it.

What about the young head of a household who has embarked on the dream of home ownership. His problem is exactly the same, but he is young enough to do some thinking and to fight back. No young man with a family in his right senses, looking at the dilemma of the old timer who is about to lose his or her home to the tax collector, is likely to walk into the same trap. To avoid it he must prepare and persist in cutting away a lot of the underbrush which has grown up in our social and economic thinking during the last 38 years or so.

We are now learning there is truth in "the power to tax is the power to destroy" which has been initiated by the spenders in all levels of government.

MITCH MILLER'S MEN

I love "Sing Along With Mitch." I like to watch all those big homely fat guys as well as the short homely guys singing for all they're worth. It reminds me of the old days among the union organizers and the radicals.

You'll notice the American Medical Association and the National Association of Manufacturers do not sing.

In the early days of the New Deal we all sang the TVA song (to the tune of "On Top of Old Smokey):

Where once private power
Said it couldn't be done
You can see farmlights twinkling,
You can hear high lines hum.
Fertilizer and power
are reclaiming the soil
lighten the toil.

But the few conservatives on the Lower East Side of New York were rather cynical about the whole thing (to the tune of Maryland, My Maryland):

The working class can kiss my ass,
I got the forman's job at last.

Forty recruits will begin training May 2, at the new Missouri State Highway Patrol Law Enforcement Academy in Jefferson City. This is the first class of recruits to enter the modern training facility.

Colonel E. I. (Mike) Hockaday, the PATROL Superintendent, stated that the recruits will receive 24 weeks (five - day week) of continuous academic training at the academy. Those men who successfully complete the special police and college courses offered during the training period will be commissioned and assigned to a troop. They will work under the supervision of an experienced officer in the troop for two months and will then return to the academy for approximately one month for further classroom study.

The following men have been selected to enter the Highway Patrol's academy beginning May 2:

PING, PONG AND SLAM
PING, PONG AND SLAM

Anyone interested in Chinese politics simply has to know about ping pong, or table tennis, and we have resorted to the National Geographic Society for exhaustive research. It seems that the name of the game is imitative of the sound, and the first known mention of it was in 1884 London catalogue. The inventor may have been an American or an Englishman or anybody else, but it was the British who really adopted it. The invention of the speedy celluloid ball about 1900 prompted its popularity.

Today, it must be understood, good players do not simply ping and pong. They stand as much as 20 feet behind the table and slam the ball. "It smarts if it hits the head," a player explains. And at all this the Chinese have become the best; they used to win international matches regularly and won handily upon their return to world competition in Japan recently. Their 4-2 defeat of the touring American team could be put down to good clean fun or noblesse oblige (applause, applause. and thoughts of Mao). Still, one does not have to be hit in the head to suspect there was more to it than that. -Post Dispatch

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Kosygin-Muskie Talks Reported, Despite Embassy Promise; Premier Fumes, Likening Israelis To American Gangsters; Angrily Delcares Israel Must Pull Out of Occupied Area

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON--A hush-hush report to the State Department on Senator Ed Muskie's recent conversations with Soviet leaders reveals, ominously, that Premier Alexei Kosygin spoke "in uncompromising harsh terms" about the Middle East.

A U.S. embassy interpreter Sol Polansky, accompanied Muskie to the Kremlin with the understanding that his notes would belong to the Senator, not to the State Department.

Later, however, the State Department demanded a full report on the talks. Despite Ambassador Jacob Beam's agreement to respect Muskie's rights to his own confidential conversations, the embassy obediently submitted a detailed summary intended for the eyes only of top Administration officials.

We have been shown a copy of the summary, which gives the highlights of Muskie's four-hour meeting with Premier Kosygin and earlier visit with Foreign Minitster Andrei Gromyko.

"Kosygin," states the summary, "appeared sober, attentive throughout, with some iciness showing through when talking about Jewish problem and heat when talking about Vietnam, and in general was conspicuously more doctrinaire and polemical than Gromyko."

When the conversation got around to the Middle East, Muskie stressed that no area had more potential for destroying any constructive US-Soviet relationship, that it has poisoned the atmosphere on both sides, and resolution of this problem will help eliminate others.

--KOSYGIN'S CASE--

"Kosygin replied in uncompromising harsh terms, charging specifically that:

"A. Israel is settling people on seized Arab territories.

"B. US did not call for settling Arab-Israeli conflict by peaceful means but supported aggression--another example, he said, where US takes position 'on other side of barricade from SU" where major problem is involved.

"C. Israel is like gangster who in US (where there can be large-scale gangster problem) might seize your house and demand that you negotiate with him for its return.

"D. Rejoicing in USG (U.S. government) circles over Israel's victory surprised USSR since 200 million Arabs will never be reconciled to loss of territory, and this has become nflammatory factor in the situation.

"E. Arabs will remember US policy and this will not create confidence but rather will build tension by mplication between Arabs and U.S."

Kosygin added "that USSR had said all along that Israel must exist as independent state but must give up occupied territories. USSR was acting in accordance with the relevant SC (United Nations Security Council) resolution.

"Muskie replied that the situation is not black and white as Kosygin described it. It is a question of what is really security.

"Acting as if Israel does not have a security problem is not going to allow a settlement.' It is necessary to deal with both Arab desire to recover territories and Israeli desire for security," Muskie said.

--MUSKIE, GROMYKO ARGUI

Earlier, Muskie reported to Gromyko on his talks with both Israeli and Egyptian officials. The summary quotes Muskie as saying: "Whil neither side wishes the resumption of hostilities, except as a last resort, their respective positions on territory makes the possibility of settlement discouraging...

"Gromyko questioned Israel's view that it can gain security by clinging to occupied territory...'It seems to us that when offered peace and effective guarantees, Israel runs away.'

"There was entended discussion of Israeli view of security with Muskie expressing understanding of Israeli feeling about Golana Heights. 'This is not question of logic.'

"Gromyko argued against need for even minor rectifications, saying that USSR would have answered similar withdrawal offer from Nazi Germany with massed artillery salvos.

"Muskie replied that he distinguished between acquisition of territory in war and rectifications of borders in areas sensitive to security of one or another state. He cited example of Soviet borders with Finland and Poland and the Oder-Neisse border. He also recalled that it was only after Six Day War that UAR (Egypt) was ready to concede Israel's right of passage through Suez and right to exist.

"Gromyko argued, in turn, that US position on what is necessary to achieve a settlement has continued to expand since 1967, and he referred to international convention which states that UAR has sovereignty over canal, and if UAR agrees to Israeli passage, it should be considered a goodwill gesture of peace.

"Gromyko also asserted that US could exert 'sobering influence' on Israel to get it to agree to peaceful settlement."

Footnote: The unauthorized embassy summary, incidentally, completely contradicts House GOP Leader Gerald Ford's recent attack upon Muskie. Ford gave a distorted account of what Muskie had told Kosygin, although the GOP high command had a complete report of the conversation. Apparently, Ford hoped his attack would keep wealthy Jews from contributing to Muskie's presidential campaign.

HOME OWNERS WANT LAW SPRINKLERS

If you had $2,400 for buying optional extras for you home, what would you buy? This was the key question in a survey of home buyers in the $22,000 to $26,000 range by the U. S. Home and Development Corporation.

Air conditioning headed the list with 51.7 per cent respondents, while an underground sprinkler system took second place with 42.8 per cent.

Dr. James R. Watson, Jr., director of agronomy for Toro Manufacturing Corporation, producer of automatic undergound sprinkler systems, said that the homeowner is interested in sprinklers because "more time is spent on hand watering than in any other lawn-care activity."

H.L. Hunt Says

Military code names usually don't survive long, except in military history. But Lam Son 719 may be different. It could weigh heavily on our affairs and those of Southeast Asia.

Lam Son 719 was the code designation for the South Vietnamese -U.S. incursion into Laos and already various factions of this nation, indeed the world, are debating its results. Some say that President Nixon and Saigon simply broadened and lengthened the war by using South Vietnamese ground forces and U.S. air power to strike at the communist supply system. Others contend that the enemy unilaterally broadened the war years ago and it was necessary to hasten our disengagement from all of Indo-China.

The more logical conclusion seems to be that it is too early to assess Lam Son 719. U.S. sources and Saigon differ on the number of casualties suffered by the South Vietnamese and communist forces. We may have to rely on time to tell for if the enemy losses were so severe they will be unable to strike in force again in Cambodia and South Vietnam.

Material and manpower losses suffered by the enemy will play a vital part in future operations. Thus we can see why Lam Son 719 was significant in military decisions ahead.

The communist Tet offensive in 1968 was made to appear to be a North Vietnamese victory at first, but it turned out to be a crippling defeat for future offensive operations. It proved far more significant to the political fate of President Lyndon Johnson. His decision to retire from office and politics generally came in the wake of Tet which agitators used to stir radicals and fellow travelers into massive protests of the war.

President Nixon may feel, eventually, the political results of Lam Son 719. If future operations are not profitable to our side as a result of Lam Son 719, Nixon's decisions will in all likelihood backfire on him.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

HARD HAT VENDETTA:
Meany Whips Up Labor
To Purge Nixon in '72
By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON:--In London town's 10 Downing Street not too long ago, I learned that the then prime minister, Laborite Harold Wilson, had as impeccable a touch for politics as he had Churchillian taste for cigars. But when I conversed with the former prime minister in New York's Waldorf Tower the other day I noted he had either slipped a bit, or perhaps the intricacies of American politics was a bit much.

In planning his brief visit to the U.S. he had made a midnight appointment with Sen. Hubert Humphrey, an 8 a.m. picture-taking breakfast date with President Nixon, Friday, April 30, and a visit with former President Johnson at the ranch.

But somehow, though it must have appeared to him that he touched all bases, he did not get to home plate -- meaning George Meany, AFL-CIO president, who has now vowed to drive Richard Nixon from office.

This is significant. Meany, in fact, is the titular head of America's shadow party, actually the most viable party in the land, the party with the ability to get there "fustest with the mostest". Namely, the Committee on Political Education (COPE).

Now in speech after speech, Meany, who apparently has bottled some of that Ponce de Leon, fountain of youth aqua pura, is denouncing President Nixon and mocking Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur Burns as an "egghead" who would have been sent to Siberia were he an economic adviser in the Soviet Union. He is whipping up labor's political activists, and over and over again threatening the President, the administration and all those who agree with them that there will be political reprisals in 1972.

Not in decades has labor's top chief traveled so much, spoken so furiously and concentrated so hard on any president. Those around him say this now is an attack on President Nixon and his domestic policies, not on the Republican Party nor the White House's foreign policy.

There's something fierce in the persistency of the Meany assaults on Mr. Nixon, the game plan, the economic policies and especially on Arthur Burns. This is explained by some insiders as "the hard hat's revenge."

Meany prides himself on having been a Bronx plumber, a construction worker, an intimate of the old-timers such as the retired Edward Carlough, also from the Bronx, once head of the Sheet Metal Workers; plumber's president, Peter Schoemann, who will retire on June 1; retired Dave Sullivan, until recently head of the Service Employes (not exactly a construction union but close to the field), et al.

So Meany has taken personally and professionally Mr. Nixon's quite gentle handling of the 17 building and construction unions -- the hard core of the AFL-CIO. Meany has said again and again that they have been made the "whipping boy" in the fight on inflation.

And the hard hat chiefs have cheered when the tough labor leader has said, in effect, come 1972 we will purge the President. How? Through the labor movement's COPE, which Meany says "is the finest political organization in the U.S."

And I do believe it is. It has activists in virtually every community of any size in the nation. This would put it in more than 1,000 cities and towns. It is well financed. Just how well is a state secret. Financial statements are numbered before they are distributed to the COPE chiefs. They are permitted to examine them for a few minutes, then they are collected as each number is checked off.

This year COPE has scheduled eight regional conferences -- as the kickoff of the presidential campaign. It has all the manpower it needs.

And imagination, too. For example, it has planned a revolution in communications for millions of federation members. In the next few days it will be releasing its COPE Report on pre-taped cassettes.

This is a half-hour cartridge. On one side are speeches by national labor leaders and such Democratic leaders as Sens. Ted Kennedy, Gaylord Nelson, Scoop Jackson and Congresswoman Martha Griffiths. On the other side are messages, political arguments, statistics, etc., which can be used in campaigns. Thematic background music consists of special arrangements of "Solidarity Forever," "Which Side Are You On," "On the Picket Line," and "Roll The Union On."

Tape decks are available for $50. Thus, if the cassette program produced by former all-pro offensive guard for the Detroit Lions, John Gordy (and former president of the National Football League Players Assn.), goes well at $1.50 a cassette a month, this simple device could reach millions at union meetings at little cost.

And in each speech, be it at the 4,000-delegate Building and Construction Trades Dept.'s legislative assembly here or at Lou Stulberg's Ladies Garment Workers Convention, Meany tells Nixon just wait for '72.

"Go back home and think of 1972, think of Al Barkan and the COPE organization," he tells delegates. Or, "In November of 1972, we will answer Dr. Burns and those who feel that the nation's future lies in a crackdown on labor...And construction workers will play their part in this activity of the organized trade union movement." Or, "We are preparing in 1971 for the political action which is so important in 1972..."

Sikeston Students Place In Top Twenty in Drafting

Saturday placed in the top 20 Bruce Wolferding with 96 and Carl Schorle 90. They are drafting class at the 22nd annual Southeast Missouri Industrial Education awards program at State college in Cape Girardeau Friday and Saturday.

Robert Rosenquist, teacher of the class, reported that of a possible 100 points, senior Carla Collier was the highest with 99. Don Davidson had 97,

Each of the winning contestants won a trophy and is eligible to participate in state competition at Columbia Saturday.

Ann Admits She's Wrong About Wife Keeping Score

Dear Readers: Remember the letter from the San Mateo wife who marked a calendar so she could keep count of how many times her husband made love to her? The response to that letter was an eye-opener. I had no idea thousands of other wives were ALSO keeping calendars. These women have convinced me that I was too hard on the gal who wrote. Here are excerpts from the mail which proves once more that everybody knows better than anybody.

Dear Ann Landers: I've been married eight years and I don't even write to my own mother, but your insensitive answer to the San Mateo wife made my blood boil. This is my second marriage. My first husband came home for lunch every day and didn't even eat. I thought I'd lose my mind. My present husband said to me after our third child was born, "Now I hope you will stop bothering me for sex." So, I have known both extremes and I can tell you, too much is better than too little. --- Feast or Famine In LaPorte.

Dear Ann Landers: I sympathize with San Mateo. I have the same problem, only I don't need to keep a calendar. I know the count --- my birthday, his birthday, Christmas and the Fourth of July. When I told my husband his low sex drive was not normal for a man of 30 and suggested he see a doctor, he said, "I'm just fine. YOU should see a doctor." Your column was pinned to my pillow last night. Thanks for nothing. --- Hungry in Hartford.

Dear Ann: Your advice to San Mateo stank. Did it ever occur to you that the poor woman DID make several passes at her husband and was turned down? Do you realize what this can do to a female's ego? Four years ago, after a spell of seven months with no loving, I decided to vamp my cold fish into submission. I bought a $25 nightgown, a bottle of Joy cologne and had my hair done. Do you know what he said? "Stop pestering me or I'll belt you one." My husband is 27 -- not 77. So don't tell me I need counseling. --- Cold Bed In Columbus.

Dear Ann Landers: Your suggestion that a wife be the aggressive one if her husband is not the type does not work for all men. I was married to a man who told me point-blank not to ask him -- that when he wanted me, he'd let me know. After waiting one solid year for him "to let me know" I became disgusted and I let his lawyer know. Today I am happily married to a man whose sex appetite matches mine and I am divinely happy.---Atlanta.

Dear Ann Landers' You conveniently overlooked several possibilities which might explain why a man in his 20's is starving his wife sexually. I know what I'm talking about because my first husband was bisexual, my second husband was impotent and my third husband was too tired for me but had plenty of energy for every waitress in town. How can you be so dumb, Ann Landers? --- Olivia of Battle Creek

Dear Ann Landers: You really blew it. Why didn't you tell San Mateo to check out her husband's male relatives. Dead batteries run in families, you know. My husband has three brothers -- all married. We wives are good friends -- perhaps because misery loves company. All of us are hungry for love. One day I decided to ask my mother-in-law if she could account for "the problem." Her answer spoke volumes. She said, "The boys inherited it from their father. We've been married 43 years and if you want to know what our love life was like -- just count the kids." ---Enlightened But Still Starving.

So thanks to all who wrote to tell me I was wrong. I have conluded that both parties should get counseling.

Meadow Lane Garden Club Tours Homes

The Meadow Lane Garden Club met Monday afternoon. Members toured the flower gardens of three members, Mrs. Jeri Schlosser, Mrs. Virginia Weidemann and Mrs. Ruth Lee, where refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The group assembled first at the home of Mrs. Schlosser, where a business session was held with Mrs. L. A. Schuerenberg, president, presiding.

Correspondence included a note from the publicity chairman of the Cape Girardeau Council of Garden Clubs, inviting the club members to attend a spring flower show "Happy Birthday Missouri" May 15 -16. The show will be on the third floor of the Hirsch Tower from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Mrs. Weidemann gave a report of the flower show school she attended in Farmington. Mrs. Schuerenberg reported that she and Mrs. Naomi Davis gave a flower arranging program before the Women's Club in Lilbourn.

Mrs. Weidemann also gave a program on "Azaleas".

Extension Leaders Have Program on Todays Knits

BENTON — "Understanding Todays Knits" was the subject of a program for textiles and clothing extension club leaders.

The program was conducted by the University Extension Division at Scott County Extension Center. Twelve club leaders from Scott county were present.

Information was presented concerning the impact of knit fabric in todays clothing industry. Marketing people have said that knits now represent 50% of all women's wear and that men's fashions are increasingly accepting knit fabrics. Sport coats and shirts are not only being made of knit but dress suits as well.

Basic knitting methods were illustrated at the meeting and fiber and blend used in knits.

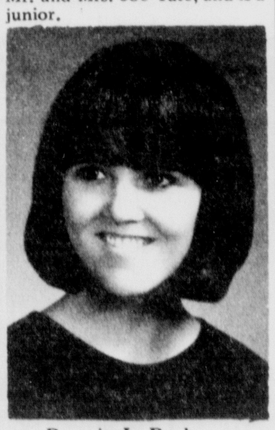

Tips were suggested for selecting and sewing knit for the homemaker who wishes to design her own.

The "Fabric and You - Knits" a publication of the University of Missouri extension division served as a reference for the lesson. This is available for anyone desiring infomation about the subject at extension offices.

ART FOR MAN'S SAKE

I went to see Sikeston Little Theatre's production of the musical "Mame". Although I am not a Judith Crist (critic for NBC), I felt I could compare the performance because I had seen Angela Lansbury play "Mame" on Broadway. She won the 1966 "Tony Award" for that performance. Pasty Mitchell played that role in the Sikeston production. Our Little Theatre group are not professionals, however, even the professionals could not deny that these people put more work, dedication and love into these plays as do the professionals (more so, since they do not get pay). Even without the background of an orchestra, the songs they sang were as effective as on Broadway (as the pianist beat her fingers to the bone pounding away the musical score), and the story told delighed and touched the heart. The people who give so much of their time (on stage and behind the scenes) all deserve "Tony Awards." Have you seen the TV commercial about the arts saying "Take away all of man's arts and man may find himself up a tree." The civic center Sikeston is working so hard to make a reality should be supported by us, so that we do not find ourselves up a tree.

Speaking of giving out awards and compliments, this Sunday is the day we honor Mother. Although she deserves this treatment everyday, we seem to find it necessary to designate a day that we can tell the world how we feel about Mother. Let's try to show her on more "unofficial" days.

Our showcase window this week features apparel for staying at home in a relaxing way. The long look seems to be the fashion trend with long cotton loungewear in robes, dresses and culottes. There are also matching tricot robes and gowns (with scuffs to match) that feel good to the skin but are concealingly opaque. We even have dusters suitable for a motherly chore such as cooking breakfast. Staying at home is become more of a pleasure and a privilege all the time, and our "stay-at-home" clothes are becoming more attractive.

From now through May 15, we have set aside this time to especially say "Thank you for shopping with us." We hope you know we feel this way everyday, but being human as the next guy, we have to have an official period to express our appreciation for your patronage. Stop by and let us thank you "officially."

Preakness Next

Not surprisingly, the upset victory by Canonero II in the 20-horse Kentucky Derby last Saturday has done little to scare off the opposition for the second of the Triple Crown races.

The Kentucky-bred, who was sold for $1,200 as a yearling and then was raced in Venezuela, returned $19.40 for a $2 bet after winning the Derby, but the payoff probably would have been astronomical had he not been made one of six field horses.

Churchill Downs officials hit the other five field horses right on the nose, as they finished in the last five positions. But Canonero II, with Gustavo Avila aboard, came out of the pack to win by a widening 3¼ lengths.

From five to seven of the Derby horses who trailed Canonero II are expected to face the colt again at Pimlico in the May 15 Preakness as he continues the quest to become the first Triple Crown winner since Citation in 1948.

Another 10 or 11 horses quartered at eastern tracks, headed by Good Behaving, Salem, Executioner, Limit To Reason, Dynatic, Your Excellency and Leematt, are considered possibilities.

The $150,000-added Preakness, which at 1 3-16 miles is shorter than the 1¼ mile Derby, will be run on a track which is much narrower than Churchill Downs.

So, if more than 14 entries are made, the Preakness will have to be run in two divisins for only the second time in history.

The first time was in 1918, when there were 26 entries. Ten scratches resulted in one division of 10 horses and one of six.

In 1928, a record Preakness field of 18 went to the post. That was when a webbed barrier instead of a starting gate was used, and there was no state pacing rule giving each starter a minimum of five feet of track.

BROSELEY – Twin Rivers blanked the Puxico Indians, 5-0, and Neelyville defeated Naylor in eight innings, 5-3, in the semifinals of the Broseley sub-district baseball tournament played Monday afternoon.

Twin Rivers, despite a total of 16 strikeouts by two Puxico pitchers, was able to score five times and win. It advanced to the Thursday afternoon finals.

Twin Rivers plated two runs in the second and one each in the fifth, sixth and seventh for its total of five.

Neelyville used the home run to drive in four of its five runs.

Neither team could score in the first inning but Jack McKinley homered in the second and Neelyville took a 1-0 lead. Neelyville scored one more in the third.

Nahlor managed to cut the lead to one by scoring one of its own in the fourth. Naylor tied the score with a run in the sixth.

With the score tied, 2-2, at the end of seven Tom Trice walloped a three - run homer to win the game.

BATTING — Larry Bowa, Phillies, drilled four hits, including the game- winning, two=run single in the eighth inning, as Philadelphia topped the St. Louis Cardinals 3-2.

PITCHING — Tug McGraw, Mets, pitched three scoreless inning in relief, bailing New York out of a bases - loaded jam in the ninth, to preserve a 3-2, 11-inning victory over Chicago.

MILWAUKEE (AP) — John Erickson, a former basketball coach who lost a campaign for the U.S. Senate last year, was hired Monday as vice president of an architectural firm.

After nine years as University of Wisconsin coach, Erickson became general manager of Milwaukee's National Basketball Association team prior to last year's venture into politics.

Littell Brothers Lead GHS Assault

WARDELL — Mark Littell, the high school baseball star to whom the San Diego Padres are reported to have offered a bonus contract, paced his Gideon teammates to the sub-district baseball championship Monday afternoon and into the state tournament. He fired a three hitter at North Pemiscot and won, 8-1.

Gideon continued to display its awesome power with the bats. It bombed four homers out of the park, two by Erick Littell. It will meet the winner of Thursday's Broseley sub-district final game.

Littell got the Bulldogs on the scoreboard in the first inning with a round tripper while brother, Mark, set out to shut out the host for five straight innings and Arnold Bell and Mark smacked two-run homers in the third and fourth innings.

Gideon added three insurance runs in the seventh on Eric's second homer of the game.

Big Red Owner Testifies

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A federal grand jury investigation here into the National Football League for possible antitrust violations continues today after testimony Monday from the owners of the St. Louis Cardinals and from NFL official Buddy Young.

The probe, which began in November, is expected to continue into September because of other grand jury business, according to U.S. attorney Carl L. Steinhouse, regional director for the Justice Department's anti-trust division.

Steinhouse said the length of the investigation is being caused by the fact the jury is in session only one week each month and has other cases.

Brothers Charles Bidwell, 42, and William Bidwell, 39, who own the Cardinals, testified separately Monday. They refused to discuss their testimony. They were accompanied by their attorney, Thomas D. Nash of Chicago.Clrence Buddy Young, a former star running back in the NFL who now works in the League's player relations office, testified Monday for the second time. Young had appeared before the jury in January.

The jury has centered its probe into charges of alleged blacklisting in the league.

SHS Netmen Finish 9-1

The Sikeston Bulldog tennis team finished its regular season Monday with a 6-3 win over the Chaffee Red Devils.

The Bulldogs ended their season tied with Kennett for first place in the SEMO Conference with identical 9-1 records. Each team defeated the other.

In the singles it was Hunter Moore defeated by Sid Uhr, 2-6, 7-5, 1-6. Churck Leible lost to Larry Summers, 3-6, 6-3, 3-6. David Hahs lost to David Enderle 0-6, 3-6. Brad Buchanan beat Mike Stubbs, 6-0,6-1. John Leible beat Jim Rister, 6-2, 6-3. Bill Colwick beat Ricky Howard 6-0.

In doubles Chuck Leible and Moore beat Summers and Enderle 8-2. Hahs and Buchanan beat Uhr and Stubbs 8-5. John Leible and Colwick defeated Rister and Goin 6-2, 6-3.

Oran Nips Chaffee

ORAN — Coach David Bone's OHS Eagles scored a run in the sixth to squeak by the Chaffee Red Devils 3-2 in a Scott-Mississippi conference baseball game Monday afternoon.

Oran Pitching Ace Rick Irwin went two innings but picked up the win. Rogers lost for Chaffee.

Neither team could score in the first inning. Both pitchers retired the sides easily.

Chaffee pushed across a run in the top of the second to take a 1-0 lead going into the third. It added another run and led, 2-0, before Oran came to bat in the third.

The Eagles scored twice to knot the score, 2-2.

The game remained tied until the sixth when Johnny Williams singled home hot hitting Bradley Emerson with the winning tally.

Oran now has a 4-2 conference record and is in second place behind the East Prairie Eagles.

Record Turkey Kill

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The 1971 wild turkey season in Missouri closed Sunday noon with an all-time record kill of 2,864 toms.

There wzre 1,250 more gobblers taken this yearnthan the former record year of 1971— and even with the season extended to 11 days, it showed Missouri's 12th annual turkey shoot was successful.

Ste. Genevieve Countysstill remains the turkey kingdom leading the other 43 counties where turkey shooting is legal with a total of 189 birds. Last year Ste. Genevieve was tops with 155.

Crawford County was second this year with 164 toms or bearded hens and Dent County was a close third with 156.

The new record turkey was bagged by Bob Stephens of Salem. Stephens got the 33-pound, 13-ounce trophy in Dent County. His bird 5opped the former record 32-pounder taken in 1969 by Nolan Hutcheson of Houston, Mo.

The conservation department reported that the three new counties this year—Benton, Maries and Oregon—all produced well and 12 of the 44 counties showed at least 100 birds bagged. Of the three new counties,nBenton reported 24 birds, Oregon 21 and Maries 30.

Althoughnfigures are not yet complete on the 1971 season, the conservation department estimated about 12,000 to 14,000 hunters were in the woods this season.

Cards, Cubs 3-2 Victims

Was it a balk or wasn't it? Well ... yes ... and no. Would you believe almost? How about maybe?

The Chicago Cubs still don't believe it. They feel the balk that wasn't cost them a ballgame Monday night, in New York and let the Mets make off with a 3-2 victory on Tommie Agee's pinch single with two out in the 11th inning.

In the only other major league action, the Philadelphia Phillies edged the St. Louis Cardinals by an identical 3-2 score.

That was the situation when the argument started at Shea Stadium Monday night. Score tied 2-all, top of the ninth, bases loaded and Ron Santo, who had driven in a run with a sacrifice fly in the first inning, at bat.

Reliever Tug McGraw starts his windup, then steps back off the mound. "Balk!" yells third base umpire Stan Landes, and Ken Holtzman, the runner at third, trots happily plateward.

"No balk," overrules plate umpire Mel Steiner, explaining that he had signaled for time before McGraw started his move.

"How could you call time after he called a balk?" Durocher wants to know. "If you'll listen to me, I'll explain it to you," cajoles Steiner. "I signaled for time before the balk."

End of argument. What could Durocher say. The Lip was speechless and he remained so afterwards.

"It happens 15 or 20 times a game," said Steiner. "Santo was scratching around in the dirt with his spikes trying to get set and I held up my hand for time. I can't let McGraw quick-pitch him, can I? I've got to protect the hitter.

"Santo complained that he was in the batter's box. I told him I don't have to protect him when he's out of the box, do I?"

Santo then watched a third strike and Johnny Callison tapped to first for the third out.

The Mets won it when Jerry Grote, who doubled home their first run in the fourth inning, lashed a two-out double in the 11th, his fourth hit, off loser Holtzman, 0-4.

After an intentional pass to Tim Foli, Agee, who didn't start because of bruised ribs, batted for McGraw, 3-1, and punched a 3-2 pitch to right field.

"I saw Steiner put his hand up," McGraw said. "That's why I stopped my windup. In fact, I'm glad it was called the way it was. I didn't think it was a balk at all. I thought I stepped off the mound properly. Now I know."

McGraw picked up the triumph and also singled in his only at-bat, giving him two hits in three trips.

Grote singled in the seventh, took third on Foli's double and scored on Bud Harrelson's sacrifice fly to put the Mets ahead 2-1. The Cubs tied it in the eighth when Billy Williams drilled his sixth home run of the season.

In the night's only other game, the Phillies stopped the Cardinals 3-2 as Larry Bowa knocked in two runs with a bases-loaded single in the eighth inning.

Freed's picture toss followed a bases-loaded single by Ted Simmons scoring Dal Maxvill and nailed Brock, who was trying to make it from second base. Maxvill's was the Cardinal only run in a 1-1 tie that existed until Bowa's tie-breaking hit in the eighth.

Freed's throw saved Philadelphia starter Barry Lersch, who held on to pick up his second victory of the season.

Tim McCarver opened the eighth with a single and tok second on Freed's sacrifice. After Don Money was intentionally walked and Larry Hisle rolled into a force out, pinch-hitter Ron Stone walked to set the stage for Bowa, who made the score 3-1.

The Cardinals made it close with a run in the ninth on Jim Beauchamp's sacrifice fly before reliever Joe Hoerner killed the rally.

BOSTON (AP) — Wally Carew, Jr., 27, of Concord, Mass., a reporter for the Lowell Sun, has been named assistant publicity director for the New England Patriots of the National Football League. Carew is the son of the Concord High School football coach.

Garr Nicknamed 'Road Runner'

ATLANTA (AP) — "I feel that if I had gotten off to a slow start, they would have sent me out," says Ralph Garr of the Braves.

So the young man Atlanta fans have nicknamed "Road Runner" because of his speed got off to a fast start—fast enough to carry him quickly to the No. 1 spot among National League hitters.

His average has been above .400 most of the season and reached a season high .434 last weekend. It is currently .400.

Ironically, the 25-year-old Grambling graduate might not be in the Brave lineup if it hadn't been for an injury suffered by the fellow who led the laague in hitting last year, Atlanta leftfielder Rico Carty.

Carty injured a knee playing winter ball and is lost to the Braves for at least half the season.

Garr, who had had only a couple of short stints previously with the Braves, stepped right into Carty's place, in left field and at the plate.

Pressure? Yes, Garr said in an interview Monday, even before the season started.

Garr and Braves vice president Paul Richards had contract difficulties during the off season. Garr said he had to "fight like a dog and earn everything I got from the Braves."

Stars Belt Colonels

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Kentucky Coach Frank Ramsey points to Wednesday's game as the key contest in the American Basketball Association's championship playoff.

"Well be in there Wednesday," Ramsey said Monday night after his Colonels absorbed a 136-117 pasting at the hands of the Utah Stars in the opening game of the series.

"If we are going to be a threat in this series, we've got to win Wednesday," Ramsey said.

Kentucky started off Monday's game as if it would break a season-long jinx in the Salt Palace. The Colonels have yet to win a game in the 13,200-seat facility.

Dan Issel scored 17 points in the first quarter as the Colonels jumped to a 12-point lead and led 35-26 entering the second quarter.

Then Utah's George Stone, a 6-8 reserve forward, got hot and it was all over.

Led by Stone, who scored 20 points in a 12-minute spree, Utah collected 50 points in the second quarter and piled up a margin that the Colonels couldn't overcome.

That 50-point outburst broke the ABA's playoff record for scoring in one quarter. The old record of 48 was set in 1968 by Pittsburgh and tied last year by Texas.

Issel, after a tremendous start, was held to 10 points the rest of the game, a key factor in Utah's victory. Guard Darrell Carrier picked up the slack for the Colonels, hitting 36 points including six three-pointers.

Utah Coach Bill Sharman said, "Issel is such a fantastic player and a great shooter that nobody is going to shut him off. But we started picking him up higher and gave Zelmo Beaty a little help."

Beaty and Stone led Utah scoring with 26 each. Ron Boone, another reserve, added 24. Stone grabbed 12 rebounds and Beaty had 16.

The Colonels got little punch besides Issel and Carrier. Louie Dampier had just three points and no other starter hit double figures.

After Wednesday's game in Salt Lake City, the teams switch to Louisville for Friday night and Saturday afternoon games. Then they alternate as needed for the rest of the series.

Monday's crowd of 12,051 brought Utah's home playoff attendance to 61,157 for six games.

SPORTS BRIEFS

PATRIOTS' PROSPECTS

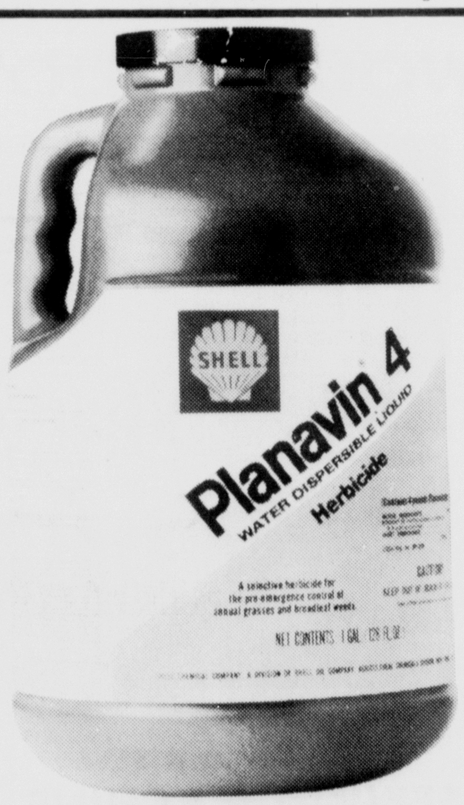

The success of the revitalized New England Patriots football team in the 1971 season depends on whether three quarterbacks can get it together. NFL veteran Joe Kapp, the team's coach, Johnny Mazur, who played quarterback 20 years ago and All-American rookie Jim Plunkett are the guys who will call the winning—or losing—plays.

CUT SPORTS SHORT?

Rep. Morris K. Udall, (D-Ariz.), in an effort to protect sports fans from themselves it seems, has proposed a bill designed to limit the length of the season during which each sport can be televised. Udall says he doesn't hate sports—in fact, he says he loves them but just doesn't want people turned off by too much of a good thing.

Washington Report

By Senator Stuart Symington

NATIONAL COMMITMENT TO CANCER CURE GETS SUPPORT

WASHINGTON, D.C.--A bill introduced by Senators Edward Kennedy (D-Mass.) and Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) which I am cosponsoring would call for the establishment of a federally funded National Cancer Authority targeting a nationwide program for the conquest of cancer.

To be organized as an independent agency, the Cancer Authority would provide a comprehensive program for curing cancer where none now exists.

Currently programs dealing with various aspects of cancer are sponsored by the National Cancer Institute as well as other divisions of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare and numerous private organizations.

The Conquest of Cancer Act, bill S.34, provides for the transfer of all operations, appropriations and responsibilities for cancer research from the National Cancer Institute to the National Cancer Authority, and charges the Authority with supporting and coordinating the efforts of existing research programs as well as the establishment of new ones. At the same time programs currently in operation under the National Cancer Institute would in no way be impeded while plans for expansion of cancer research are being developed.

Hearings on the bill, now cosponsored by more than 50 Senators, have recently been held by the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Subcommittee on Health and further action on the bill is expected in May or June.

The National Panel of Consultants on the Conquest of Cancer, appointed by the Committee, concluded in their report the necessity for a "coordinated national program" on cancer research. Although commending the past accomplishments of the NCI as worthwhile in themselves, the Panel states:

"There is real doubt whether the kind of organization that is required for this program can in fact be achieved within the National Institutes of Health or within the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. Apart from the question of whether it can be done, there is also the question of whether it would be wise to require the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare to attempt to give cancer the priority necessary to carry out the congressional mandate in a department charged with the multiple health and other responsibilities of that Department."

The Administration rejected the Panel's recommendation for an independent cancer research agency, but instead proposed a continuation of funding to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to carry out a cancer conquest program.

My office has thus far received over 3,000 letters in support of S.34 and if passed into law by Congress the bill could provide the means for intensified research in a concentrated program so desperately needed to prevent further spread of this devastating disease.

Hayti Man Hurt in Crash

HAYTI— Noel Wade, 40, Hayti, suffered cuts and internal injuries in a one-car accident at 3 p.m. Friday on the old Caruthersville gravel road a mile and a half east of Hayti.

A spokesman for Troop E Headquarters of the Missouri Highway patrol reported Wade was taken to the Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti and later transferred to the Baptist hospital in Memphis.

The patrol reported Wade was driving a 1970 Chevrolet pick-up west when he lost control on a curve and overturned.

One person was injured in a one-car accident at 2:15 a.m. Saturday on Highway 164 at the Steele junction.

The patrol reported Charles Glenn Jr., 26, Caruthersville, was driving a 1971 Ford west at a high rate of speed when he failed to round a curve and went into a ditch.

Robbie Lee Lallar, 26, Caruthersville, a passenger in the car, sustained face cuts and a possible back injury. He was taken to the Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital and later transferred to the Chickasawba Hospital in Blytheville.

BARELY MADE IT

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. C.B. Schafer Jr., Ann Arbor, Mich., was throwing food to the polar bears at the Toledo zoo when her wedding band slipped off and sailed into an almost empty moat at the bear island.

Supervisor Leonard Romans and other zoo workers rigged a scraper device used to clean animal cages. The ring was snagged just as a big male bear spotted it.

Frankly Speaking

U.S. Senator - Missouri

CHINA AND THE PING PONG THAW

On my way back to the United States from South Vietnam during the Easter Congressional recess, I stopped briefly in Hong Kong, a teeming, active city of 4,000,000 persons on a tiny land space of 400 square miles.

A British colonial city, Hong Kong is loaded with "China watchers." Diplomats, journalists, traders, bankers, industrialists, they are persons who make it their business to decipher Red China's tactics, policies, and intentions.

Their unanimous opinion, I learned, is that the two-decade-old Chinese deep freeze is beginning to thaw, slowly yet measurably, and their invitation to the American ping pong team was the first sign.

The day I arrived in Hong Kong on my way back from Vietnam, the British-Chinese transoceanic telephone line was reopened after being closed for 21 years, and American newsmen were granted long-sought travel visas.

Red China is very much coming of age diplomatically and, apparently, it no longer will pursue a course of not-so-splendid isolation and international intransigence.

Recognition?

More and more non-communist nations are recognizing and dealing with Red China diplomatically--eight since October 13, 1970.

More and more nations are realizing that Red China, consisting of 25% of the world's population, is not only here to stay, but is also a vast source of potential in terms of international trade.

The Canton Trade Fair opened in China on April 16 with more than 3,000 foreign businessmen in attendance--the largest such group ever to assemble in Red China.

The much publicized, highly cordial visit of the U.S. ping pong team to China was followed by President Nixon's announcement of somewhat freer travel and trade between the U.S. and China.

In such a climate of change, the United States position with respect to either recognition of China or the admission of Red China to the United Nations cannot and should not remain frozen.

Quarantine Ruled Out

After Future Moon Flights

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Aeronautics and Space Administration says tests of moon rocks brought back by three lunar missons show there is no need to quarantine future returned astronauts.

Dr. George M. Low, NASAS acting administrator, said the results of studies on Apollo 11, 12, and 14 moon flights show "there is no hazard to man, animals or plants in the lunar material."

The crews of all three missions were isolated immediately upon their return from the moon's surface. They, their spacecraft and lunar samples were detained inside the Lunar Receiving Laboratory in Houston for 21 days after the missions.

Voting Booth May Be True Melting Pot

By Editorial Research Reports

WASHINGTON -- Everyone knows that the United States is a nation of immigrants. But what most people don't realize is that a new wave of arrivals touched off by the Immigration and Naturalization Act of 1965 is giving many American cities a more cosmopolitan character than at any time since the turn of the century.

Filipinos, Portuguese, Greeks, Chinese, Indians, Africans -- these are among the ethnic groups reaching the United States at a greatly accelerated rate after being held back for 40 years by low quotas. Until the 1965 legislation, the immigration system had favored Northern European nations.

President Johnson considered the national origins quota system "incompatible with our basic American tradition." He said it implied "that men and women from some countries are, just because of where they come from, more desirable citizens than others." Instead of national quotas, however, legislative maneuvering forced the President to accept a compromise system of "hemispheric quotas."

By and large the new system has operated exactly as intended. So much so, in fact, that nationalities which previously enjoyed preference are crying for relief. Canadians trying to enter the United States as resident., for example, now face delays of up to 18 months or more in getting a visa. In fiscal 1965, 40,013 Canadians moved to the United States; in fiscal 1970, only 12,263 were issued visas.

Before the 1965 law was passed, some 5,000 to 7,000 Irish emigrated to America each year. But the American Irish National Immigration Committee estimated that fewer than 700 received U.S. visas in 1970. Naturally the committee supports modification of the preference system, as proposed in legislation introduced by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy (D Mass.).

The bill would make available additional visas in the categories traditionally used by applicants in Ireland, Germany, the Netherlands, and other Northern European nations. And Chairman Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) of the House Judiciary Committee introduced legislation on April 19 that would end the first -come, first - serve basis for Western Hemisphere visas and put all immigration on the basis of preference categories for relatives, skilled workers and refugees.

In the meantime, the pent-up demands of minority ethnic and racial groups for admission to the United States are being satisfied under the 1965 law. A total of 11,639 Chinese entered the United States last fiscal year, compared with the quota of 100 five years earlier. Up to 3,000 of the Chinese immigrants come to San Francisco, where they are reported to be overtaxing community resources.

More than 13,000 Portuguese were issued U.S. visas last fiscal year; five years earlier only 2,005 Portuguese were admitted. New Bedford, Mass., is said to have the largest Portuguese community in the country. And the 23,351 Filipinos admitted last year represented a sharp increase from the 3,130 five years earlier.

At present the country is receiving about 400,000 immigrants annually, plus thousands of others who slip over the borders illegally. Many of these immigrants compete with blacks and poor whites for low-paid jobs. Reducing immigration, especially in time of heavy unemployment, might be justified. But the politics of immigration are fueled by the attraction of cheap labor and ethnic votes. The 1970 election returns showed, on the other hand, that these votes are not to be had simply for the asking. Ethnics left their traditional Democratic moorings in large numbers in some states, but remained loyal to the party in several others. It may be that the voting booth is the real melting pot.

Cotton Carnival Opens Saturday

MEMPHIS--The Memphis Cotton Carnival--the largest week-long festival of its kind in the Mid-South--is less than three weeks away, and everywhere plans are being finalized to make the 1971 gala the biggest and best of any in its 37-year history.

The Carnival, which will officially open at dusk Saturday with a gigantic fireworks display over the Mississippi River, followed by gaily decorated barges floating upstream bearing the royalty of the mystical Kingdom of Cotton, is a culmination of effort from civic, government and individual sources.

During the week of parties, parades and pageantry, hundreds of thousands of visitors from across the United States are expected to flock to Memphis to view the round of extravaganzas.

Miss Dorothy Lucile May, 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John K. May, and Frank G. Barton, Jr., a well-known cottonman and owner of two farm implement dealerships, will reign over the festivities as Queen and King of Cotton. Queen Lucie is a sophomore student at Mary Baldwin College in Staunton, Va., where she is majoring in psychology. "I have no intention of being a 'shrink', or anything like that" she has said. "I just want to be able to understand people better." Her parents, who live at 2115 Kirby Road in the east section of Memphis, have long had an interest in cotton. The land where their home now is was once a thriving cotton field, having been bought by the young queen's great-great-grandfather in 1844. The family currently owns and operates Mount City Plantation in Marion, Ark.

King Frank, son of the third king of Carnival, F. G. Barton, who reigned in 1934, lives with his wife and three sons in three-generation family home at 1530 Vance--heart of the original section of Memphis. His family's roots in Memphis run as deep as cotton's roots do in the fertile soil of the Mid-South. Mr. Barton owns and operates the F. G. Barton Cotton Co., a firm which was founded by his grandfather. He also is president of Barton Equipment Co., in Memphis and Tupelo, Miss., and Crittenden Implement Co. in West Memphis, Ark.

Both the monarchs have a full schedule during the week of Carnival. They will be visiting orphanages, schools, hospitals and other institutions on such a tight time schedule it would make most heads swim. "But that's what we were crowned for," King Frank explained. "We want to take the spirit of goodwill and fun to everyone."

During Carnival week, a jiving, pulsating Blues and Jazz Festival will be staged; the Memphis-Hernando Cotton Carnival Horse Show will gallop into town; and three big parades will saunter down Main Street to the thrill of young and old alike.

Every day, a giant midway, set up on the city parking lot at the foot of Riverside Deive, will offer it cotton candied fun to Carnival goers, and a sidewalk cafe and art exhibit, reminiscent of those found in Paris, France, will swing open its white picket fence on Court Street, adjacent to historic Court Square.

On Wednesday, May 12, the Maid of Cotton Fashion Show and Luncheon, featuring pretty 1971 Maid Patricia Perry of Danville, Virginia, will be held at the Holiday Inn Rivermont.

Other activities of the week include the Town and Plantation Tour to magnificent ante-bellum homes and gardens in Memphis and Holly Springs, Mississippi; a softball tournament staged at Halle Field; motorcycle races; an exhibition of world-famous cars, including the James Bond automobile used in several movies, each day at the Auditorium; the big three-part Junior Festival; and parties held each night around the city, hosted by each of the six different secret societies that make up the financial backbone of Carnival.

More than 65 outstanding bands from high schools and colleges across the nation will come to Memphis to take part in Carnival--parades, concerts and serenades. These youngsters will march to their own music in the Friday Children's Parade and the Grand Parade at 6:00 P.M. on May 15. Many will perform in Court Square during the week.

Hopalong Harry Hacked

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Hopalong Harry enjoyed horseback riding and rode tall in the saddle. One Sunday, however, he rode higher than usual. While trotting along a narrow roadway, Mrs. Smith came driving by and, frightened by the noise of her car, Harry's horse reared and bucked and sent poor hapless Harry flying into the air. Badly banged up in landing, Dragalong Harry sued Mrs. Smith for his injuries.

"The woman was an idiot," he complained in court. "Considering that the road was narrow, and knowing that horses get frightened by automobiles, she should have slowed down before passing us."

"I knew of no such thing," responded Mrs. Smith. "After all, this is a modern age. The era of the oatsmobile is past. Any horse that uses a highway today should be psychologically up to it."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make Mrs. Smith pay for psyching out Harry's Horse?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that it has been a long time since the advent of the automobile and horses, more or less, have become accustomed to their presence and noise. Therefore, concluded the judge in effect, a motorist is not required to slow down upon meeting or passing a horse on a highway unless he observes that the horse is frightened or disturbed by his presence.

Dismissal Effort on Two Teachers Dropped

CHARLESTON--The R-1 Board of Education has dropped action to terminate the tenure contracts of two teachers.

An attorney retained by the board to review the transcript of a dismissal hearing for Mrs. Easter Mae Hughes April 8, advised the board Thursday night that the school district case would not stand up on appeal to the courts.

The board voted 4-2 to retain Mrs. Hughes and to assign her to the A. D. Simpson school neat year. Board President Ralph Adkisson and Floyd Stallings voted to terminate the contract, with members Elott Rafferty, Mrs. Helen Currin, Norbert Rowling and Herbert Marshall voting not to terminate.

A motion to take no action on terminating the contract of Mrs. Winifred Fish carried unanimously. Mrs. Fish will be assigned to teach social studies at CHS next fall. She has been a mathematics teacher at the school for several years.

The board accepted the resignation of Jim Grimes, principal of the Warren E. Hearnes School, effective at the close of the present school year. Grims is accepting a job as an elementary principal in the Franics Howell R-III District, Route 2, St. Charles.

Barber Bound Over on Charge Of Murder

KENNETT — Dewey Wesley (Sonny) Ridings Jr., Senath barber, was bound over to circuit court to stand trial on a charge of first degree murder following a preliminary hearing Friday in Dunklin county magistrate court, at Kennett.

Magistrate Judge Leon McAnally ordered Ridings bound over after two witnesses appeared on the stand, one an eyewitness for the state.

Prosecuting Attorney Charles H. Baker introduced Gary Johns of Senath, who gave an eyewitness account of the shooting which claimed the life of Darrell Vaughn, 26, Senath, on April 8.

Defense Attorney Charles Cable introduced a witness for the defense, Ed Dowdy, who testified during the preliminary that he had heard the deceased make threats against the accused murdered on more than one occasion.

Ridings has been released from custody on a $20,000 bond, set earlier by the magistrate.

The Prayer from
The Upper Room

Working together with him then, we entreat you not to accept the grace of God in vain. (IICorinthians 6:1, RSV)

PRAYER: Father in heaven, You are the Master Builder whom we can trust and follow. We may not fully understand Your architectural plans, but let us not quit before we have tried the talents and strength You give us. Amen.

More Talent Entries Needed

DEXTER — More amateur talent entries are needed for the talent show which is planned for Strawberry Week in Dexter, Mrs. Helen Triplett, chairman, said this week.

Entries for the arts and crafts exhibit have been "outstanding", Mrs. Triplett said, but there still needs to be more entries in the amateur talent contest, she said.

Amateur musicains will compete for prizes "and glory'. during the show. There is no limit as to the number of entries, and no limitation as to where they are from, Mrs. Triplett said. The only restriction is that they be amateur musicians.

Individuals, duos, trios or combos may enter, she pointed out.

Amateur musicians interested should contact Mrs. Triplett at the Kathy - Kay Shoppe, or the Chamber of Commerce office in the City Administration Building.

We, the undersigned directors attest the correctness of this report of condition and declare that it has been examined by us and to the best of our knowledge and belief is true and correct.

Directors

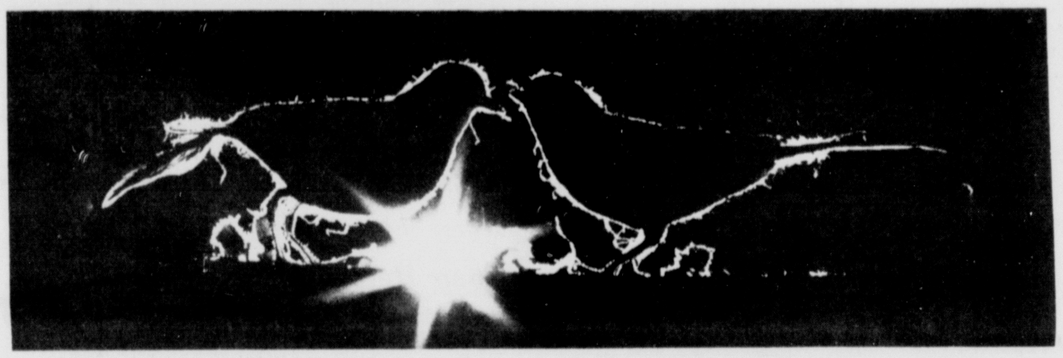

THIS GEOMETRIC COMPOSITION, taken from a farmland scene, was shot by Robert L. Stevens of St. Louis, an executive assistant in the art department of a bag company.

THE Picture: A Camera Bug's Dream Come True

A STRIKING CONTRAST was achieved by Anthony K. Wong, a cook from Charlotte, N.C., who used two artificial birds with lighting from a slide projector to produce this photograph.

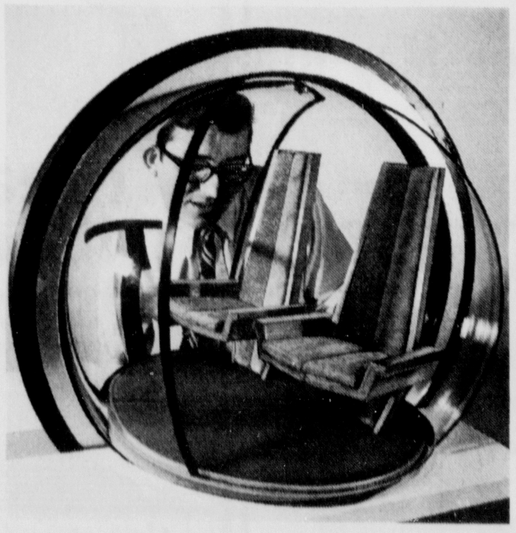

HUGE MEGASTRUCTURES towering above a city's conventional skyline would be University of Cincinnati student Chuck Reder's way of avoiding urban sprawl. Model represents block houses, each for nearly 1,000 people, suspended between vertical towers which would contain schools, shops and other community facilities. Design, according to Reder, would avoid crowding and offer spectacular views and a sense of freedom.

People and Things . . . . . Moving

was the theme and 85 university design students were the participants in the sixth annual Student Design Program. Turning their attention to the nation's mounting traffic and housing crisis, the students came up with some innovative suggestions. The program, sponsored by Armco Steel Corp., each year gives design students a chance to exercise imaginations and talents on a specific theme.

ELEVATED RUNWAYS and underground terminals would economize on land use in the airport design of University of Bridgeport students.

CRYSTAL SPHERE vehicle tailored to shopping center needs was designed by Bob Bullock of Michigan State University's school of design. Almost total visibility would make it ideal for window shopping.

LAUGH and the world—or some of it, hopefully—laughs with you might be the personal motto of this elderly Vietnamese gentleman caught by a cameraman taking a respite from the battle fronts and with a sharp eye for character.

Macon County Gets Good Audit Report

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)--State Auditor Christopher "Kit" Bond gave a good report card to Macon County Thursday after an audit of its books from Jan 1, 1965 through 1970.

He noted there was insufficient collateral on county deposits and some minor overcharges in several county offices but said all records examined represented the financial condition of the county offices.

Risco

RISCO — Approximately 15 young people from Mt. Zion Baptist Church enjoyed an outing at Crowley's Ridge Resort Saturday evening. They were chaperoned by five married couples and their leaders, Mrs. Carolyn Dell and Mrs. Jean Craig. The group held a weiner roast and participated in various games.

A post-wedding reception honoring CW/2 and Mrs. Tommy Story was held at the home of hi parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Story Sunday afternoon from 2-4 p.m.

Mrs. Gaston Brown and Mrs. Alan Littell served the guests champagne, punch, cake, nuts and mints.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Brown of West Helena, Arkansas; Mr. and Mrs. Alan littell and sons, Gideon; Mr. and Mrs. William VanPelt, Jr., and sons, Cape Girardeau; Mrs. Sallye Littell, Malden; Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Kirksey, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kirksey and family, and Mrs. Judy Gregory and family.

The couple were guests of his parents for the weekend. Tommy is presently beginning a seven-week extensive course in Cobras at Savannah, Ga., after which Mrs. Story will join him.

Fourteen members of the Freshman Class of Risco R-2 schools enjoyed an outing Saturday which included tours of Alley Springs, Round Springs and Big Springs. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Bates, Mrs. P. C. Crouthers, Mrs. Roland Byrd, Mrs. Delmar McNeely, and bus driver, O. B. Albritton.

Mrs. Erma Cole was hostess to members of the Tallapossa Baptist W.M.S. Thursday evening at her home.

Mrs. Rayvon Knapp conducted the business session, after which Mrs. Hugh Landers presented the program, assisted by all members. During the social period the group enjoyed refreshments served by the hostess.

Others present were Mrs. Kenny Carlisle, Mrs. W. M. Fortner, and Mrs. Jim Byington.

The 1971 graduating seniors will leave Friday night, May 30 on their annual trip. The tour this year will include a tour of Six Flags over Texas and a trip to the Houston Astro Dome to view a ballgame. The group plans to return home Thursday, May 6th.

Members of the Second and Third Grades visited the Call of the Wild Museum near Neelyville Friday. They were accompanied by their teachers, Mrs. Avanell Conner, Mrs. Elaine McConnell, Mrs. Day, Mrs. Jim Todd, and Lee Joyce, bus driver. There were approximately 50 pupils in he group, to enjoy the tour and apicnic at Malden City Park at noon.

Mrs. Emily Applegate was hostess to the First Baptist W.M.U. Tuesday afternoon.

All members participated in the program conducted by Mrs. Y. M. Caffey, Jewish-Baptist Communication. Mrs. Caffey also conducted the Bible Study group, "The Sower, The Seed and The Soil," from Matthew 13. Mrs. T. H. Koonce led the prayer group, which made plans fpr a prayer retreat to be held in July. A nominating committee was named, consisting of Mrs. A. O. Blough, Mrs. Lowell Kirksey and Mrs. Delmar McNeely.

Others present were Mrs. Violet Applegate and Mrs. E. E. Baskin.

The First Baptist Church has scheduled its Daily Vacation Bible School for Monday through Friday, May 24-28. Classes will be from 1-4 p.m. daily, with instruction for preschoolers, three years old, through eighth grade students.

Mrs. Lena Stevens was honored on her birthday Tuesday by a surprise tea given by her neighbors. Attending were Mrs. Harry Perrigan, Mrs. A. H. McCollum, Mrs. Kate Lloyd and Margaret Miller.

The General Baptist Church will hold a ten-day Daily Vacation Bible School beginning Monday, May 17, continuing through Friday, May 28. Classes will be held for pre-schoolers through the youth, from 2-4:30 p.m. daily.

Community children interested in attending may contact Rev. Vernon Self, phone 396-5579, or Pat Landers, 396-5878 to enroll.

The Boy Sout Troop 77 of Parma conducted a Tenderfoot investiture ceremony Monday night, April 19th to recognize four new Scouts of the troop. Receiving Tenderfoot badges were Frank and Roy Cavazos, Harry Wayne Gremore and Jeffery Butler.

The troop committee chairman presided over the program and Scout Royce Bates led the group in the opening and the closing ceremonies, and was presented a Senior Patrol Leader badge. David Crouthers received the Scribe badge; Dale Hardin received Patrol Leader badge for the Flaming Arrow Patrol, and Darryl Ramsey received Assistant Patrol Leaders badge for that Patrol.

Summer camp plans were announced and the troop will be attending Camp Lewellen during the week of June 13-19.

Miss Ronda Sudbury, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Sudbury of Parma, became the bride of Jim Hollingshad, son of Mrs. Glendal Hollingshad, Cahokia, Ill., in a double-ring ceremony at 3 p.m. March 27 at the Jerome Lane Baptist Church of Cahokia.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of peau de soie. The brief bodice was overlaid with organza and appliques with Peau d'ange lace. It was fashioned on empire lines and feautred a rounded neckline and long, tapered sleeves ending in points over the wrist. The slim skirt was styled in princess lines and was accented in front with an organza overlay edged with scalloped peau d'ange lace which formed an inverted V-shape. Her luxurious cathedral illusion mantilla of organza was edged with scalloped peau d. ange lace and fell to floorlength. She carried a bouquet of white daisies, baby mums and glamellias tied with white streamers and centered by a red rose. White pumps completed the bridal attire.

Mrs. Sudbury wore for her daughter's wedding a pink and beige ensemble, completed with beige accessories and a corsage of pink tipped baby carnations.

A reception was held at 401 Garden Street in Cahokia, the home of the groom's mother. A buffet lunch was served along with the two-tiered white bridal cake, punch, nuts and mints.

The bride is a 1970 graduate of Risco High School and the groom attended Clarkton High School. She is employed with A. J. Edwards and Sons, St. Louis and he is an employee of Chrsyler Corp., St. Louis. The couple is making their home at 234 McBridge in Dupo, Illinois.

Out of town guests for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Al Hartsfield and daughter, Malden; Miss Duane Foster, Shereveport, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cunninham, Jonesboro, Ark.; Miss Julie Melfield, DeSoto; Miss Debbie Darnstealdt, Jacob, Ill.; Mrs. Fern Nichols, Dixon; Mrs. LaVerne Ayres and Mrs. Bill Russell and daughter, all of St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Creason, Florissant and Mrs. Linda Nail, Edgemont, Ill.

Lag in Engineer Jobs Temporary

ROLLA — The current lag in the job market for engineers is temporary and will be followed by an upswing in the economy with an even greater demand for engineers, predicts Dean Stuart Johnson of the University of Missouri - Rolla School of Engineering.

The dean points out that the supply and demand for engineering talent is cyclical, just as in other fields. He also believes that news stories of the engineer who is out of a job or working in some other field may be misleading. "When this happens, it is news, because unemployment is so unusual for the engineer. At the present time, because of the condition of the economy, jobs are scarce in many fields. Except for a few hard- hit industries, such a aerospace, engineering still has a relatively good position," he says.

The National Register of Science and Technical Personnel reported recently that of 313,000 registered in 1970, the unemployment rate was only 1.6 per cent compared with a six per cent national employment figure. And for those reporting, the median salary was up 14 per cent from just two years previously.

Dean Johnson says that in times past the supposed oversupply of engineers has never lasted more than a short time and that drops in engineering enrollment during these periods have sometimes had disastrous results. "This happened after World War II, and the Korean War found us in short supply of engineers. After the Korean conflict, we were supposedly oversupplied, and later Sputnik found us lacking."

Dr. Edward E. David, Jr., science adviser to the president, made a similar point in a recent article in Chemical and Engineering News. "It does worry me that there is an attempt on the part of many people in the nation and the community to discourage careers in science and engineering ... It is not based on reality, because the opportunity for first rate engineering and science is going to be unexcelled in the next few decades ... I am optimistic about the upswing in science and technology.'.

The demands for mineral engineers -- ceramic, geological, metallurgical, mining and petroleum -- have increased, says Dean T. J. Planje of the School of Mines and Metallurgy. These demands are expected to move to unprecedented levels as Congress initiates legislation to resolve the national crisis in meeting the immediate and long - range energy and mineral needs to sustain the economy and security.

In any case, says Larry Nuss, UMR placement director, Rolla graduates are in better condition than most. Last June at graduation time, 92 per cent of the braduates had already accepted jobs. Nationwide the figure was about 75 per cent. In January, most of the mid-year graduates received employment shortly after graduation. For one specific group, electrical engineering, only three of 63 had not yet been employed in a survey made soon after commencement. Relatively few alumni have requested help in getting different jobs, he says.

However, Nuss says, the day of 10 to 15 offers per graduate is gone, albeit probably temporarily. Nationally job offers are down about 66 per cent at the bachelors level, and they are down about 50 per cent at Rolla. However, he adds, "that simply means that each graduate is not receiving so many offers as previously. Most graduates are still receiving offers, and many from several different companies."

He sees signs that the upturn in demand may already have started. "About 10 per cent of the companies interviewing at Rolla this year are looking for more graduates than they hired last year, and already about 15 per cent more companies than at this time last year have requested future interviews," he says.

Dr. Johnson points out that traditionally after a recession, it is technological advances that bring about the upswing in the economy, and the engineer and scientist are the first to benefit. He believes that consumer demands will keep a steady demand for technological progress -- an engineers. "We aren't going to junk our electric refrigerators and go back to the old ice box," he points out, "nor are we going to give up other advances."

No matter what the fluctuations of the economy bring, because of his versatility, the engineer is in a favored position to ride out the uncertainties, the dean observes. Since all engineers use basic principles of science and are accustomed to continuing education to keep abreast of the newest in their fields, it is relatively easy for the engineer to re - educate himself for a new specialty if necessary, he says.

Cormier Gets to Keep White House Chair He Broke

WASHINGTON (AP) -- Six-foot -four Frank Cormier, White House correspondent for The Associated Press, has a White House chair as a keepsake.

He got it by breaking it.

Leaning back in the gilded chair at President Nixon's news conference Thursday night, Cormier heard a disturbing crack.

He kept things virtually unnoticed until he delivered his customary, "Thank you, Mr. President" ending the televised and broadcast session.

When Cormier got around to inspecting the chair he found that the runged back had broken off.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler later informed Cormier that the President was presenting the chair to him as a gift.

Wetterau Honors Prather

SCOTT CITY — Ferlyn Prather, vice president and general manager of the Scott City, Mo., division of Wetterau Foods, Inc., was honored at a retirement dinner April 26 at the Holiday Inn, Cape Girardeau, in recognition of more than 45 years of service to the company.

Among the nearly 100 company guests who paid tribute to Prather's long and successful career were Oliver G. Wetterau, chairman of the board; Ted. C. Wetterau, president; William O. Buhrum, a Wetterau director; and William R. Miller, who will succeed Prather as general manager on May 1, 1971.

Miller, who was master of ceremonies, presented the retiree with a 45-year-old ledger used in Prather's first job as a bookkeeper with the company. Also on hand at the head table was his wife, Daphne. The Prathers reside in Cape Girardeau, but will move to a new home near Flat River, Mo., as soon as it is completed.

A native of Desloge, Prather was employed by the then year-old Wetterau Grocer Company warehouse as a one-man office staff in 1926. William O. Buhrman, Prather recalled, termed him a "smart young man with a lot to learn."

Prather has headed the Desloge-Scott City division since 1934. He was elected a vice president in 1956 and a director in 1961.

Wetterau Foods, Inc., distributes food and non-food products to 450 IGA supermarkets in seven Midwestern states and New England, as well as 75 Red & White and 200 other independent retailers in the Southeast.

To the Editor:

I am wondering how many people have had to go to the emergency room at the Missouri Delta community Hospital and got the same treatment as we did the other night. My father, who is 68, took sick about 5:3 0 Saturday evening, with a upset stomach. About 11:00 his temperature went up, he began to ramble on and talk incoherence and his coloring began to turn dark. We decided he needed medical treatment. We called McMikle's ambulance and arrived at the hospital at 12:30. Our family Doctor, Dr. Critchlow, was out of town for the week - end, but that Dr. Sargent was covering for him, plus he was the house Doctor for the night. The nurse called Dr. Sargent and described my father's symptom to him over the phone. He prescribed two pills for him to take right away. At about 12:45 another patient arrived, a young woman from of town who was beginning to mis-carry. Of course she had to rely on the Doctor who was on on call for the night. That would be Dr. John Sargent.

We waited for awhile — no Doctor. The nurse calls him again. Another 30 minutes passes, still no Doctor. The nurse calls him again. She reports he's leaving for the hospital. We still wait and no Doctor. Meanwhile the woman across the hall is also waiting on the Doctor. After waiting for about two hours her parents call the Administrator. About 3:00 in the morning I think, the administrator called the Doctor at home. Finally at 3:15, after waiting almost 3 hours the Doctor arrives and looks at my father. I tried to ask him a few questions about his condition. He said he had the flu. I asked the Doctor if the flu would cause his skin to turn bluish black? His answer was "Well, get the flu yourself and see what happens" or words to the affect. I remarked that I wasn't trying to get smart with him, I only wanted to find out about my father's condition. His answer was — if you're not satisfied there's alot of Doctors names and numbers, that I could call for another Doctor to come and examine him."

He wrote out two prescriptions and gave him four pills and said we could take him home. McMikle's ambulance and driver had stayed at the hospital and waited for us for those three hours. We took my father back home and he proceeded to get worse. At 8:00 o'clock Sunday morning we knew we had to get him medical help, but had no desire to take him back to Sikeston, so we took him to Chaffee Hospital. When we arrived there the Doctor checked him over and was quite concerned with his discoloration. He admitted him to the hospital for tests and medical care because as he said "There was more wrong with him than the flu."

After discussing the situation with friends and neighbors we find that this same thing has happened before at the Sikeston hospital. If my father had had a heart attack, he could have died in those three hours, then who would have been responsible? I thought the hospital and doctors were here to help the sick, day or night. If the Doctor doesn't want to take calls in the middle of the night he shouldn't have become a doctor. He took an oath and he also knew what it would be like to be a Doctor, or could it be he's just interested in the money side of it.

I'd like to add that the nurses were just as nice as they could be and they did all they could but their hands were tied. They couldn't do much until the Doctor had seen my father.

The administration of the hospital had better wake up before they have a law suit brought against them.

Sincerely yours,
Raymond E. Smith

Dear Charlie,

Since your "Letter to the Editor" column is about the only means of expressing a view on public affairs I would appreciate very much your printing this letter.

The Subject of criticism is a farce held Sunday, April 25th, commonly known as "Little League Tryouts". Along with many other hopeful parents, I took my son and two neighbor boys to the Field House where they were Duly registered and lined up to "Try Out". Each boy was given a chance to catch Two grounders and two fly balls, while the coaches of the teams were purportedly evaluating their skills at catching and throwing.

Now comes the question. How do you explain to a 9 year old that even though he caught 3 out of 4 he didn't make a team while at the same time some of his friends missed 3 out of 4 and were chosen? As an adult I understand the Cliques and Social systems that are inherent in a community like Sikeston, but how do you explain this to a nine year old who has always been taught that honesty and fair play are virtues, and that prizes and goals are achieved through hard work and competiton NOT through favoritism.

Most of the little league officials if they bother to read this far, will shrug off my comments as "just another irate parent" or "sour grapes". They may be right. Perhaps in the shadow of disappointment I'm not looking at things clearly. But I suspect many boys are asking the same question my son is "...If I did better in the Tryouts than they, why didn't I make it?

I suggest that next year we eliminate all pretense at "Tryouts", just get a list of available 9 year olds from the schools and let the coaches take it from there.

This is also, in a way, an indictment of the City of Sikeston. This progressive city, so proud of its Industries, Schools, Churches and Community Activities will have more than 100 Boys, ages 9 thru 12 who will be unable to gét into an organized summer recreation program .. WHY?

If other parents are concerned with these problems, I hope they will take the time to write a letter or note to this column and express their views also.

Sincerely,
Duane Williams

St. Louis Events Listed

ST. LOUIS, MO. — The Summer 1971 edition of "Surprising St. Louis", a combined calendar of events and listing of St. Louis tourist attractions is now available free to anyone interested in St. Louis activities during May thru August.

Heading the list of summer activities are such perennial St. Louis favorites as the baseball Cardinals, Mississippi Riverboat excursions, the Zoo animal shows, and the ever popular outdoor Muny Opera, whose 1971 season includes appearances by such stars as Ann Margaret, Robert Goulet, Milton Berle, Jim Nabors, Pearl Bailey, Lauren Bacall, Glen Campbell and others.

Of national interest is the grand opening of the Six Flags Over Mid-America amusement park June 5 near Eureka, Missouri, a short distance south of St. Louis. Over 200 acres of rides, shows, restaurants, and scenic picnic areas promises to make the park one of the prime visitor attractions in the middle United States.

The Missouri Folklife Festival celebrating 150 years of Missouri history will be held June 23-26 in Downtown St. Louis with a varied program of music, song and dance in addition to crafts and booth displays.

Add to this the many fine St. Louis hotels and restaurants and you have a total package of carefree summer vacation fun.

Goodwill Week Being Observed

ST. LOUIS — Observance of National Goodwill Week this week is part of a nationwide event sponsored by Goodwill Industries in 145 cities in the United States. The theme for 1971 is -- "The Goodwill Way For The U.S.A."

The Goodwill program provides vocational rehabilitation services and sheltered employment to the thousands of handicapped people annually throughout the country.

Each Goodwill Industries is an autonomous, non - profit, and community - directed agency organized locally. All Goodwills work together, through membership in a national organization called Goodwill Industries of America, Inc., headquartered in Washington, D.C.

The 145 Goodwills in the United States comprise the largest network of vocational rehabilitation workshops serving all types of handicapped people in the nation. Generally known as sheltered workshops, they provide about half of all services provided by all sheltered workshops in the U.S.

The Goodwill program seeks to test, counsel, train, employ and place people with all varieties of mental and physical handicaps. The major part of its operation is a work program through which handicapped people can learn skills, receive work conditioning or find steady employment if they cannot get jobs in normal business and industry.

Goodwill Industries operates in a manner that gives the handicapped a chance to help themselves. Wages paid to the disabled keep many of them on the payroll and off welfare rolls, allowing them to become tax payers instead of tax burdens.

Youth Hit By Car

POPLAR BLUFF — Bobby Joe Pernell, 18, route one, Broseley, is in serious condition at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, from injuries sustained when he was struck by a car at 8:10 p.m. last night.

On route A six miles southeast of Poplar Bluff, a 1966 Ford pickup truck traveling east, driven by Marion Dockery, 48, Broseley, ran off on the shoulder and struck Pernell.

Bank Robbers Change Plea To Guilty

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo.(AP)–Two of three St. Louis area men charged in the holdup of the bank of Marquand, Mo., changed their pleas from innocent to guilty Monday in U.S. District Court.

The third man charged in the case, Donald Filkens, 36, of Hazelwood, changed his plea from innocent to guilty last Thursday.

Judge John K. Regan ordered a presentence investigation and said he would sentence Turnbough and McConnell May 24. Filkens will be sentenced June 4.

Three men took more than $15,000 from the southeast Missouri bank on Feb. 23. Turnbough, McConnell and Filkens were arrested about one hour after the robbery by Missouri Highway Patrol and sheriff's officers.

Authorities said $12,901 was recovered.

Six Treated

Six were treated Monday at Missouri Delta Community hospital for injuries:

Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP) — Corn futures prices were lower in early dealings on the Chicago Board of Trade today, but other grains and soybeans were irregular.

On the opening, wheat was unchanged to 1/8 cent a bushel higher, May 1.57¾; corn was ¼ to ¾ lower, May 1.43 3/8; oats were 1/8 lower to 1/8 higher, May 67 1/8 cents, and soybeans were 1/8 lower to 1/8 higher, May 2.91½.

Upon entering customs, the driver announced, "I brought you guys a couple of bags of marijuana. They're in the back."

Asked why, the man said he had bought the marijuana in Mexico to keep it off the market and out of the hands of youngsters. He has 14 children.
